FAMILY REUNION IS TURNED TO TRAGEDY BY MOTOR ACCIDENT

Mrs. Samuel Thornbury, Mother of Groom at Wedding Here Last Saturday, One of Three Killed When Car Overturns at Foot of Steep Grade in West Vancouver

WEST VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—Reunion of two groups of sisters, related as cousins, ended in death for three and injury to the two others when their sight-seeing automobile crashed on one of the scenic roads winding through the Capilano Estates, suburban West Vancouver property project under development.

Mrs. Samuel Thornbury, who left her Perth, Ont., home to attend the wedding of her son at Victoria last Saturday, was instantly killed when the car went out of control and overturned four times at the bottom of a steep grade.

Mrs. J. W. Hogg, of Vancouver, sister of Mrs. Thornbury, and Mrs. Robert McBeth, of Los Angeles, a cousin, were fatally injured and died en route to hospital. The three were thrown through the roof of the car when it overturned.

IS CRITICALLY INJURED
Miss Lillie Graham, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Hogg's sister, and believed driver of the car, which was registered in her name, was critically injured.

Mrs. F. A. Cleland, wife of a Vancouver real estate operator and sister of Mrs. Hogg and Mrs. Thornbury, received only minor injuries. She climbed from the wrecked car and stopped a passing motorist, who informed police and called an ambulance.

Miss Graham and Mrs. McBeth had motored here from their California home to join their cousins in a family reunion. Today's tour of

French Agents Check Soviet Ship in Search for Missing Generals

PARIS, Sept. 23 (P).—Surete National agents checked the possibility tonight that the solution to the mysterious disappearance of two "White Russian" generals might be found aboard the Soviet freighter Marya-Ulyanova.

The two generals, who have been living in France in daily fear of "political" enemies, vanished after a strange rendezvous which one of them had said might be a trap.

FORMER CZARISTS
The missing officers of the "White Army" are Gen. Eugene de Miller, leader of the scattered legions of the dead czar, exiles from their homeland under the Soviet regime, and Gen. Skobline, said to have served under the czar.

Police operatives in Le Havre informed Paris that a number of witnesses had reported seeing a truck speeding to the waterfront today just before the Russian ship sailed for Leningrad.

DRIVE TO VESSEL

The driver and two men were reported seated on the front seat when the truck drove to the vessel's side. When the truck left the waterfront only the driver was visible.

The police were told the car took the highway to Paris. The Russian ship sailed on short notice, telling port authorities her next port was Leningrad.

Police were handicapped tonight in their investigation by their inability to get in touch with Skobline's wife, Plevitzkaia, a stinger well known in "White Russian" circles. She was last seen just before noon.

CANADA EXPORTING LITTLE EXPLOSIVES

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (P).—Canada's contribution to the world's supply of ammunition for war is small. In 1936, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report issued today, total production of explosives including fireworks, was $9,354,000 and only a small fraction, $173,000 worth, was exported. In 1935 output was valued at $8,337,000 and exports were $137,000.

EUROPEAN SITUATION IMPROVES WITH NEW ACCORD DEVELOPING

Italy Now Expected to Enter Anglo-French Working Agreement

SUCCESS DEPENDENT ON TECHNICAL TALKS

LONDON, Sept. 23 (P).—The Associated Press quoted an "authoritative source" tonight as declaring that a new balance of power in Europe was made possible by the expected adhesion of Premier Mussolini to the Anglo-French working agreement.

This source asserted, the Associated Press said, that Mussolini gave France a definite promise to go to Spain if Italy, Great Britain and France could agree, as expected, on Italy's proper place in the Mediterranean anti-piracy patrol and on other questions.

This promise was said to have been given by Renato Bova Scopa, Italian representative at Geneva, to Yvon Delbois, French Foreign Minister, at Geneva yesterday, and to have been reaffirmed by Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano in Rome.

Shell Hits Insurgent Army Chief

MADRID, Sept. 23 (CP-Havas).—General Jose Varela, commander-in-chief of insurgent forces on the Madrid front, was reported seriously wounded tonight during a Government artillery bombardment.

General Varela, one of the most prominent of insurgent commanders, was reported hit in three places by bursting shells when Government batteries opened fire on insurgent artillery located on Garabitas Hill. A piece of shrapnel inflicted a severe wound, Government sources reported.

Captain of Tanker Denies Report He Sighted Yacht Near Azores

LONDON, Sept. 24 (P).—Fresh mystery enveloped the fate of the British yacht Endeavour I, when a report reached London early today that the captain of the British ship Amara had denied an earlier report he sighted the missing yacht near the Azores.

Underwriters at Lloyd's, who heard the report of the yacht's safety, went home joyfully, and the City was shrouded in darkness when the radio message arrived from the tanker's captain saying he'd seen and heard nothing of the Endeavour and that he "gravely deplored" the original statement.

HEARD FIRST REPORT

T. O. M. Sopwith, owner of the Endeavour I when she challenged for the America's Cup three years ago, expressed himself as "very relieved, but by no means surprised," when told the yacht had been reported safe and had retired to bed when the Amara's denial reached London. He refused to answer telephone calls and slept, unaware of the second message, which is likely Continued on Page 2, Column 3

Vancouver Man Gets $1,000 for 100 Because Perforations Not on Whole Block

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—G. P. Bainbridge, Vancouver philatelist, today sold 100 stamps of the recent "five-cent medallion issue" for $1,000.

The stamps were a complete sheet which, by an unusual printing error, were perforated horizontally, but not vertically.

Mr. Bainbridge said it was possible three other sheets of 100 stamps were issued with the same defect, but that it was unlikely they would ever be placed on sale.

Lou Ambers Defends Lightweight Honors In One-Sided Fight

Scores Surprise Victory Over Pedro Montanez in Top Bout in New York—Jeffra New Bantam Champion—Ross and Apostoli Win

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (P).—Elusive Lou Ambers, world lightweight boxing champion, scored a surprisingly decisive victory on points tonight over Pedro Montanez, of Puerto Rico, in a drab fifteen-round match which was the top billing of the "carnival of champions."

Ambers outpointed his rugged rival from start to finish while a crowd of 40,000 fans yelled for action.

Ambers came through with a decisive triumph after Chicago's Barney Ross had been hard pressed to turn back the challenge of Cefirino Garcia, of the Philippines, in defence of the world welterweight title in fifteen slashing rounds, and Fred Apostoli, of San Francisco, had gained a technical knockout victory over France's Marcel Thill, the European middleweight champion, in the tenth round.

HAS BIG EDGE
Ambers successfully spiked Montanez's heaviest punching guns, out-boxed the challenger consistently, and piled up an overwhelming margin on points.

Earthquake Count Continues to Grow In Helena, Mont.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 23 (P).—An earthquake, the 2,396th in a series which began October 12, 1935, was felt here today. The shock, at 7:28 a.m. (Mountain standard time), lasted between one and two seconds. It was classified as "weak" by the Weather Bureau. No damage was reported.

Must Finish Chastisement Of China Soon

TOKIO, Sept. 24 (CP-Havas).—Japan must finish its "chastisement" of China quickly, or else the Soviet Union may enter the hostilities, Hachiro Arita, former Foreign Minister, said in an interview today on his return from a tour of North China and Manchukuo.

Arita said it was impossible to predict when the "China incident" would be settled, although there was no room for doubt, he said, regarding the eventual outcome of current military operations.

ALBERTA HOUSE OPENING TODAY

Social Credit Members in Caucus All Day—Ten Bills Ready

EDMONTON, Sept. 23 (P).—With ten bills for consideration, preparations were nearing completion tonight for the opening of the special session of the Alberta Legislature tomorrow.

Social Credit members met in caucus throughout the day, and Premier Aberhart announced ten bills would be introduced during the session, expected to be brief. Nature of the legislation was not divulged.

Opposition forces in the Legislature will be increased by at least one when the House meets to hear Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen read the Speech from the Throne at 2 p.m. (P.S.T.).

John W. Huggill, former Attorney-General, today had his seat moved from the Government side to the Opposition benches beside that of James Hansen, M.P.P. for Taber, who was read out of the Social Credit Party. Although W. N. Chant, former Minister of Agriculture, has announced his intention to sit as an Independent, his seat has not yet been moved.

A general discussion of the legislative programme took place during the caucus, Premier Aberhart said. Although details of the "bills have not been disclosed, it is expected some of the legislation will deal with licensing of bankers and other bills disapproved by the Federal Government.

PRESIDENTIAL SALUTE

As the warships bearing the Presidential party enter the waters of the harbor, they will fire a twenty-one-gun salute, and will be answered by the batteries at Work Point Barracks, firing a similar cannonade. When the Chief Executive steps ashore a guard of honor of 100 picked men from the Royal Canadian Navy and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will present arms at the jetty.

Rain Comes At Last to Dry Areas

REGINA, Sept. 23 (P).—After twenty-four hours of intermittent rainfall, Saskatchewan's drought areas tonight hoped that the long cycle of dry years had at last been broken.

At Shaunavon, centre of the drought district, snow fell for an hour this afternoon. Steady rainfall preceded the snow, and it was still raining in that district tonight. Rains stretched down into southwest and southeast corners of the province.

Japanese Raiders Drop Thirty Bombs—Large Women's Hospital Damaged—Action Draws Protests From Foreign Consuls—Violent Air Attacks on Many Centres in China

Thousands Killed and Injured In Series of Raids on Canton

TIENTSIN, China, Sept. 24 (P).—The French Jesuit Mission at Sienhsien, southwest of Tientsin, one of the largest mission stations in China, was bombed today by Japanese airplanes from the base here. American, French and other consuls immediately lodged strong protests with Japanese consular officials here.

The air raiders dropped thirty bombs. One of them struck the residence of Bishop Le Croart, head of the mission. Another damaged the mission's large women's hospital, which is staffed with numerous Canadian, American, Hungarian and other nuns. None of the nursing sisters was injured.

The mission comprises forty-eight foreign and forty-two Chinese priests and thirty-four sisters.

Paoingfu Falls to Japanese After Few Defenders Cover Retreat

PEIPING, Sept. 24 (CP-Havas).—A semi-official Japanese source today reported the capture of Paoingfu, up to now the biggest Chinese military base in North China.

"Suicide" Chinese contingents of snipers, machine gunners and trench mortar units posted at the Wall City's North Gate to screen the southwestward retreat of their 150,000 comrades in arms were wiped out, this source said.

Before the Japanese finally battered down the gate they had to fight their way past a furiously resisting little defence force at Paoingfu Railway Station, outside the wall, it was stated.

Flying Boat Lands Short Of Objective

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23 (P).—Unable to locate Lac du Bonnet, sixty miles northeast of Winnipeg, in the darkness, Pilot Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, of Toronto, brought the flying boat, carrying Sir Hubert Wilkins and three companions, down on a small lake tonight "in unfamiliar country."

The Royal Canadian Corps signal station here which is working the lane picked up a message from Radio Operator Ray Booth saying that Hollick-Kenyon landed the plane successfully on a lake "surrounded by brush." The party, bound for New York from five Arctic flights in search of the missing Russian Polar flyers, was forced down at Morrison Lake by heavy weather earlier in the day.

JAPANESE PAPER WARNS BRITAIN AND STATES
TOKIO, Sept. 24 (P).—The newspaper Nichi Nichi today warned that Great Britain and the United States "will only suffer greater damage in the end" if they and other powers seriously attempt to restrain Japanese bombings of China's capital, Nanking.

ORDERS BONUS FOR SEAMEN IN WAR ZONES
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (P).—The Maritime Commission ordered tonight a cash bonus for officers and crews of Government-operated vessels entering the war zones in the Sino-Japanese and Spanish conflicts. The commission voted to pay a $50 bonus to the men on Government-operated ships, saying it recognized "the hazards undertaken by seamen sailing into danger zones in Chinese and Spanish waters."

Charge of False Pretences Laid after Sentencing of Captain Hatfield

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (P).—Senator Hance J. Logan, of Parrsboro, N.S., was arrested here this afternoon on a warrant arising out of the now-famous Gypsum Queen case. Taken into custody at a small hotel, the Senator formally appeared before Magistrate Glen Strike and was liberated on $5,000 bail. Senator James Murdoch, Ottawa, stood as bondsman.

The sixty-eight-year-old Senator will appear in police court tomorrow morning to answer the charge, information relating to which was laid early this afternoon by George Edwin Beaumont, of Ottawa. It alleges that the Senator "did unlawfully by false pretences procure to be delivered by the Bank of Montreal to him, the said Hance J. Logan, the sum of $71,276.72, the property of His Majesty the King in the right of the Dominion of Canada, with intent to defraud."

HATFIELD SENTENCED
Swearing out of the information followed within a few hours sentencing of Captain Freeman Hatfield, former master of the Gypsum Queen, to eighteen months in the Ontario Reformatory.

Warwick Beaumont, counsel for Hatfield, who was convicted yesterday, said tonight he proposed to appeal from the verdict of guilty and also from the sentence.

Associated with him as defence counsel was his brother, G. E. Beaumont, who today swore out the information that led to the Senator's arrest. Hatfield's sentence was delivered on a charge worded almost parallel to that issued against Logan.

Vittorio Mussolini Arrives at New York and Is Leaving Today for Hollywood

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (P).—Flanked by diplomats and guarded by secret service men and members of the police alien squad, Vittorio Mussolini, twenty-year-old son of the Italian Premier, took a hasty peek at New York today, prior to leaving for Hollywood and a brief career in the movie studios.

An anti-Fascist demonstration on his arrival was frustrated when the blond, husky son of Il Duce was spirited aboard a cutter while the liner Rex was still in quarantine, and hustled into Manhattan secretly under heavy guard.

The time of his projected departure tomorrow from Newark airport was kept secret.

Mother Tells Court Of Tragedy in Gas Filled Apartments

Relates Details of Finding Three Children in Block Being Fumigated—Vancouver Man on Trial for Manslaughter—Another Awaits Hearing

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (U.A.) A mother told in Assize Court today how she carried a two-year-old neighbor's daughter to safety from a gas-filled apartment block while her own child lay dying on an upper floor of the building.

Testifying at the trial of Philip Wright McLeod, proprietor of the Service Fumigating Company, who is charged with manslaughter in the gas-death of three-year-old Joan Brewer last June, Mrs. Margaret A. Brewer told the court she disregarded the fumigating gas which filled the Kendall Apartment Block and entered seeking her daughter.

TWO MEN CHARGED

McLeod is charged jointly with his former employee, Patrick Brennan, in the asphyxiation deaths of three-year-old Joan Brewer and three-year-old Kathleen Boyce, who suffocated in the building while it was being fumigated last June.

Brennan is at liberty on $2,500 bail pending a separate trial.

"The first thing I saw inside the door was the two dead animals," Mrs. Brewer told the court, referring to a cat and a dog, playmates of her own child and Kathleen and Eileen Boyce.

CARRIED TO SAFETY

A little further up the corridor, Mrs. Brewer continued, she came upon the little form of Eileen, still breathing. She called for Joan, but received no answer and lifted Eileen and carried her to safety.

When she went to re-enter the building, she testified, Brennan, who had been sitting nearby eating his lunch, followed her and said: "Come out of there."

She said she asked him to go in and look for Joan, but he did not answer.

Later, a policeman and Brennan entered the building and carried out the bodies of Kathleen and Joan, who failed to respond to respiratory treatment at hospital. Eileen Boyce recovered.

The trial is continuing.

Dutch Queen Celebrates Her Birthday

On the Occasion of the Fifty-Eighth Birthday of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, Hundreds of School Children Visited the Palace of Het Loo, Near Apeldoorn, Holland, to Congratulate Her. The Queen is Here Shown Greeting the Youngsters.

The jury will also receive an official report of the autopsy giving actual cause of death.

MANY QUESTIONED

Aside from questioning some two score of possible suspects, city police have been unable to advance very far towards solution of the mystery. Chief of Detectives John A. McLellan said last night his men had sifted numerous reports and theories, but found nothing that would assist them in their hunt. The theory that the slain woman had been struck down by a hit-and-run automobile driver and the body cast into the vacant lot was discounted. Report of the autopsy, he said, would eliminate entirely that idea.

Although the inspector would not express an opinion before the coroner's hearing, it is the general view that the widow was criminally attacked and then killed to eliminate all possibility of detection of the assailant.

SEARCH ON MAINLAND

Police yesterday carried their search to the Mainland, and the crew of a ship which cleared Victoria the night of the murder was questioned. Various individuals, police reported, had been interrogated at central police station, but without result.

The inquest is to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

to transform England's relief into renewed anxiety. Tollesbury, the fishing village where almost half of the Endeavour's crew live, retired happily to bed after an evening of celebration. The villagers were not aware of the denial from Amastara's master.

BELIEVED INFORMATION
An official at Lloyd's stated that the organization had no reason to doubt the original message from an agent in the Azores, although there had been no confirmation from any other source. He said he was greatly surprised to receive the message from the Amastara's master after news of Endeavour's safety had already been formally announced to underwriters.

SITUATION IMPROVED BY NEW ACCORD

Authorities at Rome gave no details on improved Italian relations with Great Britain and France on the eve of Mussolini's visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Germany. Reliable sources said Italy's co-operation with Great Britain and France depended on the success of technical talks next week in Paris to arrange Italian participation in the anti-piracy patrol. They said no difficulties were foreseen.

Official British circles were openly optimistic of a swift relaxation of European tension, the Associated Press reported. They awaited the outcome of the Nyon naval talks and of Mussolini's visit to Germany, however.

A responsible source told the Associated Press that Clano repeated Bova Scopa's assurance of no further Italian troops in Spain to E. B. Ingram, councillor of the British Embassy in Rome. This source said Clano added that a "satisfactory solution" of the Spanish situation now was in sight.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL

Diplomatic circles interpreted this as an indication that Great Britain and France now hope to induce Mussolini to withdraw Italian troops already in Spain as well as to guarantee to send no more.

There was a strong belief in both

French and British informed quarters, the Associated Press reported, that Mussolini, having trouble in Ethiopia, is making a bid for French and British recognition of Italian empire in order to make Italian rule easier in East Africa.

They expressed belief, the Associated Press added, that Mussolini was faced with making a choice between the two things he wants most—but which are irreconcilable—recognition of Italian empire in Ethiopia and a victory for the Spanish Insurgents.

Authoritative sources said the reported Bova Scopa declaration would indicate Mussolini has decided in favor of empire recognition and is willing to pay the Anglo-French price of complete Italian withdrawal from Spain, whatever the consequences to insurgent General Franco.

DIRECTOR OF ART RETURNS

A. Lismer, of Toronto Art Gallery, Exponent of Unique Experiment

Since he left Canada in May, 1936, A. Lismer, educational director of Toronto Art Gallery, has been in South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, during which he delivered over 500 lectures, mainly in the large centres of the three Dominions visited. He traveled under the auspices of the Carnegie Corporation, New York, and returned to Canada last night on the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara.

For some years past, Mr. Lismer has been identified with the unique experiment being conducted by the National Gallery of Canada, which has for its objective the creation of an appreciation among interested groups for their own artistic surroundings, something which has not kept pace with the march of progress in other more material directions.

BEGIN WITH VERY YOUNG

Instead of being content to take it for granted that what was considered good art during the mid-Victorian era and still should continue to represent the art ideals of present-day students, the experiment aims at evolving an art peculiar to various countries and thoughts. In the possible achievement of this purpose, the sponsors of the experiment believe in starting with the very young, and at various centres in Canada, classes of children meet regularly and are instructed in the fundamentals of art, which are not altogether confined to the drawing of lines or the putting of building blocks together.

Achieving some success on the lines followed in Canada, the experiment has been carried farther afield, and Mr. Lismer was chosen to present its possibilities in South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, where the idea met with considerable approval.

MANY BRANCHES ATTEND PARLEY

Canadian Legion Delegates From Lower Island Gather In Victoria

Delegates from many Lower Island points attended the district council meeting of the Canadian Legion in the Naval Veterans' headquarters, last evening. Branches represented were: Nursing Sisters, Britannia, Naval Veterans, Prince Edward, Langford, Sooke, and the Tuberculous Veterans.

It was announced that a branch of the Legion, attached to the British Columbia command, had been established in Wenatchee, Washington. This makes a total of 135 branches under the provincial jurisdiction, twelve of them being in Washington and Oregon.

TO SECURE COPIES

Copies of the Ex-Servicemen's Guide, a book containing valuable information regarding legislation, covering all branches of veterans' activities, will be secured by the council. There are still a few copies of the pamphlets on Imperial matters at the office of the secretary, C. A. Gill, Pro Patria Branch, it was announced.

The council is still awaiting word from the Dominion Command as to when the film, "Salute to Valor," the official Government film of the Vimy Pilgrimage, sponsored by the Canadian Legion, would be shown at a local theatre.

ENDORSE PROPOSAL

The meeting endorsed the action of the local Kiwanis Club committee's occupational therapy and rehabilitation scheme for persons recovering from tuberculosis.

Announcement was made of a concert, in aid of the hall fund of the Prince Edward Branch, Langford, to be held in the Colwood Hall on October 15. It will feature George J. Dyke's twenty-five piece orchestra, vocalists and assisting artists.

The next meeting of the council will be held at Langford, October 28. A meeting of the Remembrance Day committee will be held in the Naval Veterans Club premises this evening.

PHYSICAL CULTURE CLASSES TO BEGIN

A new departure in Y.M.C.A. work, the commencement of physical culture classes for women, will shortly be instituted under the direction of Sheila Swift, Archie McKinnon, physical director of the association, announced yesterday.

Miss Swift has had considerable experience in athletics and has been a member of the Y.M.C.A. swimming team for a number of years. The classes, which will start

Tuesday, October 5, will embrace two groups, one for young women and the other for older women. The younger women will gather on Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 2:30 until 3:30 o'clock. They will take up marching, running, postural work, stressing grace and poise, Danish and Swedish exercises and apparatus work.

Older women will meet on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 2:30 until 3:30 o'clock. In addition to Danish and Swedish exercises, they will take slimming exercises, abdominal work and light group games.

Registrations will be accepted by telephoning Miss Swift at Garden 2891, or Archie McKinnon at Empire 7194. The classes will be held in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

BUT... HOW DIFFERENT IN QUALITY!

... it's the same with BEER

IF an assortment of hop cones or catkins from California, Oregon, British Columbia, Southern England, Bavaria, Bohemia or Australia were spread before the average layman he couldn't tell which was which. Yet there is as much difference in hops grown in each locality as there is in the finished beer turned out by various breweries.

The proper selection and blending of the best hops—the preparation of the choicest malt and the manifold processes of brewing, ageing and bottling, under the exacting supervision of a Master Brewer, all play their part in making Lucky Lager one of the world's finest beers.

Lucky you! No need to be an expert to learn there is a difference in beers. The first sip and your own taste will prove its worth. Try it today!

Schofield, director of Fisheries Research Laboratory, of San Pedro, Cal., and his brother, N. B. Schofield, supervisor of Commercial Fisheries of California, of San Francisco, were interested spectators at a demonstration given tonight of the system now used in British Columbia for the tagging of pilchard and herring.

The demonstrators were two young scientists of the Pacific Biological Station at Departure Bay, Dr. J. L. Hart and Dr. A. L. Tester. They have just perfected and thoroughly tested a machine which accurately picks out a tagged herring, or pilchard, from others going by at a 100 per second.

ELECTRICAL DEVICE

It is an electrical device of extreme sensitiveness and with it they have already caught pilchards which were tagged in the San Pedro, Cal., area and they have also tagged pilchard which have been returned to them from that area. With her-per day and out of fifty tons, the scientists average from one to seven tagged fish, when they reach the saltery. At this point the new invention comes into play. It is a chute-like apparatus leading from the elevator of the scow to the reduction plant. A million fish may be run through this chute in a day, but the electro magnet coil is so sensitive it will pick a hundred tagged fish from the run, with scarcely an error. Tags are numbered and a slice with the knife returns the tag to the original owner, and he can tell instantly where the fish has come from and the length of time elapsed for it to make the journey.

LEARN FISH HISTORY

For pilchard heavier tags are used and with the machine, now perfected, it is hoped to learn a great deal more of the history of the fish, their migrations, feeding grounds, etc., and with co-operation between British Columbia, and the states affected, preservation of the fish can be more satisfactory and of benefit to the industry.

Dr. Tester in describing the machine, stated it is on the wheat-stone-perch principle, using an alternating current with electricity furnished from a 110-watt portable motor. When Dr. Tester was experimenting with the machine at the saltery on Moresby Island, operated by Japanese, the latter proved extremely curious and were intent on watching the trap which opens and closes in a space of less than a second when a tagged fish approaches.

"I have," said Dr. Tester, "many times been put to a lot of trouble by these curious Japanese. Afraid the machine would not work with a mere metal tag they often put two or three four-inch wire nails in the fish before it left the scow and when they did they were sure they would see the trap work. Once the machine went 'wrong' every fish that went over was being trapped. The operator solved the mystery when he removed a metal cuff but-

TEMPERATURE FALLS RAPIDLY

Mercury Takes Sudden Drop to Forty-Five Degrees at Gonzales Heights

Only a week after the hottest weather of the year, the mercury in Gonzales Observatory thermometer went down to a low of 45 degrees, it was noted yesterday. At the same time observers in the city marked an even lower temperature of 37 degrees above zero.

Last week saw city residents perspiring under a hot sun that sent the mercury up to the exceptionally high mark of 88 degrees on Tuesday, establishing an all-time record for heat in September. Tuesday was the hottest day of the year, and yesterday the coldest since the Spring.

The marked change was caused by the sun dipping below the equator, the observatory reported, yesterday being the date of the Fall equinox. Cooler weather is the forecast for the next few days, with generally colder weather to be expected until December 23, when Old Sol will again come northward. On March 23 it will have arrived back at the position it left yesterday.

THE FIRST FROST

The entire Pacific Northwest was affected by the change yesterday. It was said, with the first frost of the season reported in several places. Coldest weather was experienced at Prince George, where the thermometer dropped to 26 degrees. Two points in Washington, Odessa, Lincoln County, and Rosalia, Whitman County, had minimums of 28 degrees.

The cooler weather in the vicinity of Victoria yesterday was marked by a chill wind that blew in off the Straits. The sun, however, continued to shine throughout the day, and fair weather is anticipated for a week or so longer.

Tourists and Fair Week visitors have for the most part left the city, it was stated at a number of hotels.

GIVES VIEWS ON AFFAIR IN EAST

University Women's Club
Opens Season With Talk
By Dr. W. J. Sipprell

While in many respects he was a great admirer of Japan, he was definitely anti-Japan in so far as their country's attitude at present time toward China was concerned, Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell, recently returned from a visit to the Orient, told the University Women's Club last evening in the course of a thoughtful, analytical, and well-informed address, in which he expounded a theme on which he has spoken several times in the last few weeks.

Japan's aggressive attitude he attributed in part to the superiority complex she had developed as the result of her success in the war with China in 1895 and her defeat of the Russian fleet in the Russo-Japanese War of 1905. The temperaments of the two nations were compared. Japan, nationalistic and militaristic in spirit, whereas the Chinese were lacking in national spirit, and were a quiet, peace-loving and industrious folk. Japan excused herself for her quick aggressive move in China on the ground that China was developing a communistic spirit and an anti-Japanese sentiment. Dr. Sipprell agreed with the Chinese view that Japan was pressing into China because she was afraid of an awakened China.

Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board Seeking Replacement by New Body

Formal request from the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board for abolition of the present board and its replacement by a "neutral board" with different personnel was received by Hon. K. C. MacDonald Wednesday, and turned over to the Provincial Marketing Board for report.

The request was under advisement, and would be considered by the Government after the Provincial body had made its report on the Mainland milk distribution situation, Dr. MacDonald intimated.

Though guarded in their utterances, spokesmen for the Province here appeared to see little permanent settlement of marketing disputes in British Columbia until the Provincial Natural Products Marketing Act has been taken before the Privy Council at London, and ruled on conclusively there, one way or the other.

PLAN IS CONSIDERED

There was little doubt, however, that the Government would be willing to set up a new board to control milk marketing on the Lower Mainland, if it becomes apparent that that plan would have the backing necessary among producers to make it a success. It is on that feature of the issue that the Provincial Marketing Board has been instructed to investigate and report.

Little Pig Pays Visit To Stores

An inquisitive little porker who just happened along, caused quite a little stir on Douglas Street, Tuesday evening, and continued his nomadic foraging until Colin Murcheson, 844 Johnson Street, picked him up on Caledonia Avenue Wednesday afternoon and reported to police.

The pig paid little heed to motorists as he waddled across Douglas Street and proceeded to "window shop" at the Hudson's Bay and adjoining stores. After carefully scrutinizing the various windows, showing particular interest in a dining-room suite, he disappeared into the night. However, when he was picked up Wednesday, it is reported, the poundman had a proposition of room and board for a while to put to the little piglet.

DUCE'S VISIT TO GERMANY

What will likely be regarded as the outstanding event in the European situation during the coming week-end will be the visit of Premier Mussolini to Berlin. His talks with Chancellor Hitler will doubtless turn on assurances to be given to Germany by Italy of the unimpaired soundness of the Rome-Berlin axis. It is conceivable that a decision will be reached about a common policy affecting the Sino-Japanese War and in opposition to the Russo-Chinese Pact. It may be, too, that a pact will be made respecting the future attitude of the two countries affecting the Spanish Civil War.

Such a rapprochement as the visit of Premier Mussolini to Berlin can accomplish much for the peace of Europe, or it may sow the seeds of future dissensions through an aggravation of the present situation. Italy's viewpoint on the international patrol of the Mediterranean, in which she is not participating, will be one of the issues considered—in fact, the three outstanding reasons for the visit are apparent to all observers. What it will accomplish without a doubt is a closer alignment between Italy and Germany in their outlook on European affairs, and perhaps on world politics generally.

Premier Mussolini has not been much of a traveler outside his own country since he took office, going little further indeed than to the African possessions of Italy. It is in the nature of a momentous event, in its bearing on the future, that he should be visiting Berlin. He and Chancellor Hitler, by virtue of their conversations and decisions, have a golden opportunity to ally the distrust and suspicion that make the European situation so uncertain.

GAMMON AND SPINNAGE

Premier Aberhart of Alberta, like one of Dickens' characters, spends his whole time in turning an immense pecuniary mangle. The trouble is that nothing comes therefrom, save it be debt. Mr. Aberhart is the most notorious political flounderer of his time, and in a bog of his own choosing. He was elected to power to do what he is not able to do, and he has admitted himself that he does not know what "this thing—Social Credit—is." Hence he has had to summon theorists from England to attempt to implement his own pre-election promises, and all they have been able to do is to frame legislation that is in defiance of Federal authority.

Social Credit, if it is to become operative at all, even in an experimental way, requires unified action, in other words, all round co-operation. In Alberta there is no evidence of such co-operation. Mass meetings are demanding the resignation of Mr. Aberhart. Notice of a "recall" petition has been given; in other words, there is a desire to put Aberhartian legislation in operation against himself. The forces of opposition to Social Credit are aligning themselves into a political whole against the day when an election will be held. Co-operation in Alberta to put Social Credit into effect does not exist. Premier Aberhart has failed to put his chief election plank into effect, and where that is the case it would be a gesture of sportsmanship to resign. Mr. Aberhart must believe that his is a heaven-sent mission, or that he is a special personal dispensation. The humor of the situation is his self-confessed ignorance of what it is all about. Perhaps in his heart of hearts he says with Miss Mowcher: "What a world of gammon and spinage it is, though, ain't it?"

HEAVY WATER

Several years ago the laboratory manufacture of "heavy" water, containing double the usual amount of hydrogen, was announced. The discovery caused considerable interest, and newspapers generally dealt with it at greater than usual length and detail as compared with other steps in the advancement of chemistry. The publicity reached its height when Professor Klaus Hansen drank some of the heavy water, while physiologists held their breath and not a few were fearful that the results would be fatal. Professor Hansen, who vigorously denied suggestions that his experiment had more publicity than real value to science, had carefully estimated the amount he could drink with safety and he emerged from the test without suffering any ill effects. At the same time he had obtained some valuable information, for with the aid of heavy hydrogen he had been able to determine how long water stays in the body. Physiologists had always wanted an indicator of what goes on in the body; Professor Hansen seemed to have found it. His experiment, with others, proved heavy hydrogen to be an ideal tracer.

While research work was continued with the new chemical, relatively little was heard of it until the recent meeting of the American Chemical Society. There Professor Rudolf Schoenheimer, of Columbia University, read a paper so revolutionary that rewriting of textbooks on physiology may become necessary in the light of new information. Experimenting with mice, the Columbia investigator, by the use of heavy water, was able to discover what happened to the fat the little rodents stored away, the heavy hydrogen making it possible to differentiate between fat containing the chemical and normal fat. The tests threw a new light on the mysterious processes of converting food into tissue, energy and fat. The widespread belief that fat, which encumbers the activities of the abnormally stout, stays year in and year out wherever it is deposited was completely disproved. Instead, Professor Schoenheimer found that half the fat is renewed within five to nine days in the case of mice, and presumably in the case of man, and that it actually melts in a chemical sense, to be converted into something else. Also he found that the acids of butter and milk fat are consumed as fast as they are eaten, and that the difference in the chemical behaviour of oily fats, like those of olives and peanuts and of hard ones like suet and tallow, will make it necessary for dietary experts to learn a new and more scientific art of reducing.

Such is the nature of the information that is being gathered by the use of heavy hydrogen in physiological studies. This is because it is possible to follow an atom from the digestive tract to the uttermost tissue in a finger tip. One scientific commentator says: "Not since Dr. Beaumont, a century ago, saw through an open gunshot wound in the stomach of a French-Canadian woodsman what happens in digestion has anything so startling and so important been revealed about the chemistry of food." This is the contribution to science of the discovery of heavy water.

A CASE IN POINT

The Ottawa Journal records the case of a man who has been a taxpayer in the capital for forty-four years, who owns a little house, who is just able to provide his family with the necessities of life and who pays his taxes. This man has appeared before the Board of Control to find out why his taxes should be higher than ever before because his little property must pay a share of the cost of maintaining families on relief who live more comfortably than his dependents. The question is a puzzler, but it shows how thrift is being penalized in these latter days. The Mayor of Ottawa told him that the municipality can do nothing, that its hands are tied by the rules made for municipalities by higher authority.

Perhaps municipalities are helpless because they have to shoulder their portion of the burden of relief, but that the small property owner should have to pay four or five extra mills on the tax rate after a life of effort and sacrifice indicates something wrong. He is being penalized because of the ills of others and through no fault of his own. That is where the system of social legislation is at fault. It is conceived on false premises and has a tendency to keep on the process of making people poorer. If there is any new found system in civilization which needs a thorough overhauling, it is the ways and means devised for the taxation for and the distribution of State charity.

AIRPLANE SPEED

The recent United States National Air Races at Cleveland have given aeronautical engineers something to think about in a way that they had not expected. The main trophies for speed were won by an airplane of only 544 cubic inches piston displacement developing about 450 horsepower. The engine of the second highest point winning plane had a piston displacement of 1,145 cubic inches and developed about 950 horsepower. Several of the other entries had motors of more than 1,800 cubic inches displacement and developed more than 1,000 horsepower. The performance of the lower-powered plane, showing greater speed than some of the planes with more than twice its power, caused some observers to predict closer study of other factors than engine power that enter into the speed of an airplane.

PAVILION LAKE (In the Cariboo)

In deep sequestered shade of hill and wood, Here healing rest and pensive solitude, Like moonbeams whispering o'er a smiling sea, So gently glide the golden days away, Now Summer softly passes to her end, With flower-like tints these waters gleam, Aquamarine, cobalt, dove-grey and green, Jewel-like with emerald, jade, and turquoise blue, Now crystal bright its limpid waters flash, Far from the world's unrest and grief of heart, Here find we true succor from care and pain, A shrine of worship 'mid the hills of God. —John D. Swanson.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation may be biting off more than it can conveniently chew when it seeks to deny newspapers the right to have their personal representatives go on the air with a digest of the news these organizations have gathered. The bulk of all news in Canada is gathered by the daily and weekly newspapers of the country before it is handed in duplicate carbon-copy to the Canadian Press. Some newspapers treated the radio hour in a perfunctory way; others, however, realized in this medium a new approach to the public, and have developed those rare individuals, columnists of the ether. In such a class, certainly, is the Vancouver Province representative, Mr. Earle Kelly, whose sonorous "Good evening" has crossed the Pacific Ocean and reached half way around the world. Victorians, for one, community, would miss the friendly greeting to all those at sea, in lighthouses, in lonely cabins in the Arctic Circle and elsewhere, which came nightly over Mainland broadcasts. To say so is not to detract one iota from the good and fair intent of the Canadian Press. After all why should we not have commentators on the air, if that is what the public wants?

Graceful tributes to Victoria and Vancouver Island are common enough, but when they come from British Columbia's energetic and still growing metropolis of Vancouver they take on added weight of authority. The following paragraph, reprinted from an editorial in The Daily Province on Wednesday, September 22, will do much to cement the goodwill which should, and does, exist between two cities which are the complement of each other. We quote:

"President Roosevelt will be the first American President to visit Victoria, though not the first to visit British Columbia. President Harding was here (in Vancouver) a week before his death in 1923. President Roosevelt is also the first President to visit both the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts of Canada. He is well known in New Brunswick. He visited the Governor-General at Quebec last year. Now he is to see Vancouver Island, leaving the best to the last."

If arrangements have not already been made to do so, efforts should be put forward to continue the excellent series of natural history lectures pioneered by the Provincial Museum at Victoria for two winters past. Approximately 6,000 school children and 1,000 grown-ups attended these lectures throughout the respective seasons, the children devoting holiday time, Saturday mornings, to the plan. Under the guidance of the museum authorities the world of the forest, sea and air came to life for the youngsters, with a wealth of circumstance and charm which must have contributed tangible benefits to young minds. Rich in flora and fauna, British Columbia has also the fascinating origins of a primitive Indian people who dug roots from the cedar tree to make thread; carved wooden cooking utensils and heated their food with hot stones, and ventured to sea in canoes clipped from great conifers. In one respect, at least, the museum is an introduction to current life in the woods, fields and rivers of British Columbia, because children can pass from the stuffed exhibits in their ticketed glass cases, straight out of doors, to find the same life abundantly in its natural cover. The lectures were much appreciated, and should, if at all possible, be renewed. The same plan is being followed by much larger and older institutions in Eastern centres on this continent. It is an intelligent plan.

Indeed, looked at without the prejudices and without the established convictions of the past, museums could be made to show far more of what is current than has so far been the case. Here in British Columbia, for instance, there is room for large scale relief maps, showing the physical features of the province, for the edification of tourists and residents alike. There is room for a clear-cut, self-explanatory exposition of the chief, natural means of life, such as lumbering, mining, agriculture, and fisheries. The tree could be followed from the log to its many uses and forms. Ore could be traced from the rough rock to its refined product. Game and commercial fishes, of which more than twenty-seven species are handled, could be shown in relation to the methods of catching them; and the waters in which they are taken. There is drama and adventure in the life story of the Pacific salmon; let alone halibut, herring, pilchard and whaler. Each branch could be made a show window in itself, something that would educate our own people, but those who will come afterwards. In short, why should we continue to describe all this in textbooks, when we can as easily and far more graphically show it in fact and substance? The Provincial Museum at Victoria has been given the highest rating in Canada along its own line, natural history; but what a wealth of education and use could be packed into the same medium, if approached from the larger viewpoint. Approximately 400,000 tourists land each year in the Inner Harbor, few hundred feet away from the Provincial Museum. They are looking for things to see. What could we not show them, if we would?

Queer Policy

A nationally-read magazine had a leading article: "The English Don't Like Us," in a recent issue. It suggested Canadians did not get a square deal at the Coronation ceremonies. If the article carried weight in the Canadian West, men like School Inspector Sullivan and School Supervisor H. N. McCormick, of Vancouver, who were present at the Coronation, will do much to set an erroneous idea right. Now the magazine suggests it has no wish to intrude its views upon its Canadian friends, and that its constant desire is to increase the friendliness and cordial relations of the United States and the British Empire. That's laudable, but the magazine in question has a queer way of going about it. —B.G.

Posties Protected

In the United States postmen are not forced to deliver letters to houses where there are vicious dogs. In some parts of England, if a warning is not heeded by a dog owner, he is asked to call for his letters at the postoffice. We well remember the time dad bought a new pair of trousers for a postman our dog took a dislike to. A James Bay youngster was anxious to painlessly extract enough money from his dad to purchase a football, so he asked pa if there was any work he could do. Unfortunately there was none. "Then how about putting me on relief?" the lad asked. It is interesting to note how many persons refuse to walk underneath a ladder. In olden times a ladder leaning against a wall was held to form a symbolic triangle, and any person who had walked under it, crossed his or her fingers, and kept them that way until meeting a dog. —G.B.

"It S(tops) Them All"

At last we've found it—a fish story that tops them all, bar none—the fish in the story isn't very big, but well, here it is. The action takes place far removed from the sea, or any other body of water, in a small town across the border in Washington. One day the owner of the house, who had turned the water sprinkler on the lawn a short while before looked out the front door and noticed it wasn't working. Thinking someone had turned it off, he inquired of his wife, but she replied in the negative. No one had been near the hose after he had connected the sprinkler. "Well," he remarked, "I'll go and turn it on again myself." However, when he arrived at the tap, he found to his chagrin that it was already on—but no water was coming out of the sprinkler. Sensing some kind of trouble at the connection, the man disconnected the sprinkler from the hose. . . . and here's where the fish story comes in. There wedged firmly in the end of the hose, preventing the passage of the water, was the cutest little trout fry. The only possible solution to the queer phenomenon is that the fish made its way from the reservoir, through miles of water pipes, through the tap and into the hose. When he got to the sprinkler, however, he could go no further, the passage there was just a little too small. Believe it or not—W.I.F.

Racing Chatter

Racing officials at the Willows track went "Hollywood" on Wednesday when they named their feature event after George Meek, movie comedian, and then climaxed the "show" in grand style by having comedy Miss Iris Meredith, leading lady in the current film current production, "Murder Is News," decorate the winner. The charming young star, of the locally made moving picture, was given a big hand when she was introduced prior to the start of the race, and she gave the Victoria punters her best "Sunday" smile. To us who were fortunate enough to be really close to Miss Meredith, it was certainly a grand smile. . . . Some of the boys who find it easier to pick the last horse than the first horse are beginning to wonder if a fourth wicket could be made for punters who wished to select the last horse in the race. We felt sorry for a charming young waitress who was given Cisco Kid and then failed to back it. . . . And then there's the lady who stood right by us and yelled for three bangtalls in one race. We never found out just which of the trio of horses she had her dough-r-r-r-me on, but she certainly could yell.—S.T.

Glancing Over Sport

One racehorse better dropped into the office on Wednesday night and told the boys how he got three winners, two seconds, a third, and was out of the money twice, and returned home ten cents to the good. No profit in that, my boy. . . . The only new rule for this season's footballers is this, according to a well known local official: When a penalty kick is being taken the players will have to stand in a quarter circle back of the eighteen-yard line. This regulation will do away with a lot of tomfoolery and make it easier for the referee. . . . Officials of the San Antonio Club of the Texas Baseball League have been blue in the face ever since they traded Pitcher Ash Hillin to Oklahoma City. They are trying desperately to explain to their fans the reason, for Hillin chalked up thirty-one victories for the opposition team. . . . Do you know that the season just closed was the second best in the history of the International Baseball League as far as attendance was concerned? . . . The sixteenth hole at Canterbury course, scene of the Western open golf meet, is 615 yards long. In the final round, Jimmy Thomson went over with a drive and a No. 5 wood; Sammy Snead was pin high; Horton Smith was on the edge and Ralph Guidahl was forty yards short. All of them scored birdie fours. . . . Only two golf courses in United States have holes 700 yards or over, believe it or not.—J.D.

Newspapermen

We had been asked to give our candid and unbiased impression of the gentlemen of the fourth estate. We had nothing but admiration for them. We admired, for instance, the consistency of the scribe who avoided a break-up with the lady friend in the coffee shop by dropping in to say "Good night" even on occasions when he was going to be finished too soon or too late to escort her the short block home. We admired the optimism of the reporter who had lived many years of his life in noisy boarding houses and hotels and eventually decided to seek peace and quiet by getting married and setting up a home of his own. We admired the patient lad who handled the telephone for three years on end, taking messages that others of the staff should have been there to receive, and which eventually appeared as front page stories over other signatures than his own. We admired the ingenuity of that cheerful wielder of the pen who, though he always smoked a pipe, took to carrying a supply of cigars in his pocket to keep the city editor in a good humor. Most of all, perhaps, we admired the lavish generosity of the city editor himself, who, maddened by the refusal of company pencils to keep their points, in a reckless moment when precedent and tradition were thrown to the four winds, went to the expense of buying himself two five-cent pencils that were "fit to use."—E.B.

THE SABBATH DAY

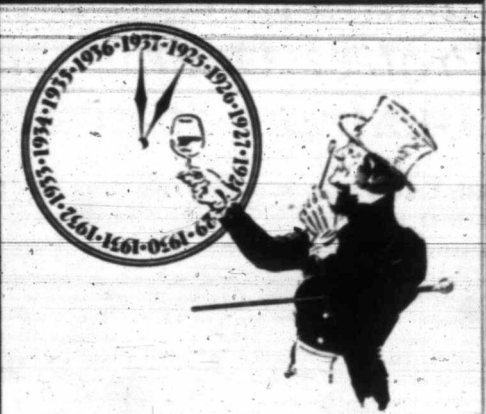

Sir—In your issue of today's date appears, under the caption "Keeping the Sabbath," a letter to the editor over the signature of one Harold Heskin.

The statements made in this letter are characteristic of the great majority of such affirmations made by Protestant defenders of Sunday observance, in that, although Mr. Heskin, when he says "the Seventh Day Adventists ought to know that too, if they look up history and study their Bible carefully enough," thereby clearly implies that he himself knows both history and the Bible, yet he makes no attempt to support his statements by referring your readers, for confirmation, to either church or secular history, or to the Bible.

If Mr. Heskin is acquainted with any such references which Seventh Day Adventists have overlooked, it would have been more to the point had he stated these references rather than blandly to tell your readers what Seventh Day Adventists ought to know. He says "Sunday was kept as a Lord's Day long before churches of Rome and of Greece were established." This declaration may be accepted as a fair measure of Mr. Heskin's acquaintance with history and the Bible.

The churches of Rome and of Greece were both already established when Paul was writing his epistles; see Romans 1:1, 7, and vi:5, also I Cor. 1:2; both of these epistles having been written about the years 57 or 58 A.D., yet Paul is silent regarding Sunday observance. Why? Why have we no instructions from Paul in this regard if Sunday was, in his day, being observed by the Christian Church? Why is it that not one of the New Testament writers has one word to say regarding any such doctrine?

No, Paul, while he doubtless knew all about Sunday worship, seems to have left that day to its originators, the worshippers of the sun, while he obeyed God's Fourth Commandment, for we find it recorded of him that he consistently taught and worshipped on God's Sabbath which,

A BEAR'S DEATH

Sir—In Sunday's Colonist, Mr. Gillespie's letter re the capture of a bear and its lingering death at Nelson voiced the disgust that many people must feel, even if they do not openly express it.

We know, unfortunately, that much cruelty to wild animals goes on that we never hear about, but when we read of the callous and brutal doing to death of a bear reported as a sort of joke, it is time someone protested. The S.P.C.A. say they cannot act unless the ill-treated animal is in captivity. As the men had lassoed the bear it would seem that it was a capture, and therefore comes within the society's jurisdiction.

Instead of making a joke of the poor beast, any decent-minded man would, one thinks, be ashamed. If wild animals must be killed, in humanity's name let it be as merciful and swift as possible. How can we expect the rising generation to give animals a square deal when they read of such brutality being turned into a joke. Like Mr. Gillespie, I hope the matter can be taken up so that at least the two men will know people's opinion of their cruelty. A. HEYWOOD, P.O. Box 495, Victoria, B.C., September 20, 1937.

DRAMA FESTIVAL

Sir—At a very poorly-attended meeting of those interested in amateur dramatics held at the club-rooms of the Little Theatre Association recently, the elimination contest committee was authorized to conduct the Regional Festival with such increase of personnel and adjustment of duties as appeared desirable to the chairman. It was also decided to hold the elimination contest at the Empire Theatre on Friday and Saturday, November 26 and 27, if sufficient plays are entered.

If, by Saturday, October 2, at least six plays have not been notified to the secretary, E. T. Simmons, 1171 Fort Street, no elimination contest will be held and therefore any plays desiring to enter the regional will have to pay the regional entrance fee of, say, $40, for which tickets are given. It is therefore to the interests of all those who wish to compete to see that the necessary number of plays are entered.

The early date for holding the eliminations is that headquarters insist on having the entries for the regional in Ottawa before January 2, 1938. The entrance fee for the elimination contest is $10, for which tickets are given.

T. L. THORPE-DOUBBLE, Chairman, Regional Festival, D.D.F., 1712 Montserrat Street, Victoria, B.C., September 18, 1937.

SUGGESTS RISE IN TAX RATES

Oak Bay Asks Further Consideration of Increase in Fire Protection

Surprise at the abrupt increase in the rate for fire protection charged Oak Bay municipality by the City of Victoria was evinced in a letter received at the City Hall yesterday from R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk.

Mr. Blandy, in pointing out that the increase means the difference between $12,000 and $18,000 annually, declares that Oak Bay may be forced to form its own fire department, and suggests that, on reflection, the city might care to continue under the old agreement.

If Oak Bay does institute its own department, Mr. Blandy says, the sum of $12,000 it now pays will be lost to this city, and taxes would possibly have to be increased by that amount.

OAK BAY MAY EQUIP HALL

Question of Fire Department To Be Discussed at Next Meeting

Oak Bay Council, at its regular meeting next Thursday, will consider the question of installing a separate fire department of its own, independent of the city department. This will be the result of the course taken Wednesday evening when the council was faced with a resolution from the City Council that Victoria had decided to increase its charge to Oak Bay for fire protection from the Yates Street fire hall from $1,000 to $1,500 per month.

The action of the Oak Bay Council is not a precipitate one. For months the subject of an independent fire department has been under consideration by a committee of the council, and the necessary data has been acquired.

The municipal clerk has been instructed to have a by-law, covering the installing of a fire department, ready for Thursday evening, which will leave the way clear for the council to reach a decision as to what alternative plan it is prepared to adopt. The by-law will be a money-by-law, which must be approved by a vote of the property owners before being adopted.

THE EXPENDITURE

Construction of a headquarters in the way of a building and the purchase of a plant, which it is generally accepted would be one having a substantial fire engine with at least one light auxiliary outfit to answer interim calls, would constitute the capital expenditure placed upon the municipality. The other expenditure would include the provision for a fire hall, which the municipality is really bearing at the present time in the sum paid to the city. The total cost to Oak Bay, under the investigation of the committee, is placed at from $25,000 upward, according to the equipment desired.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

SOOKE

Eight tables of military five hundred were in progress at Sooke Hall on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Sooke and North Sooke Institute. Mr. F. G. Gray and Mr. Ralph Kirby won the ten bid. Those at the first table were Mrs. H. F. McBride, Mrs. K. Cairns, F. G. Gray and R. Kirby. Mrs. F. G. Gray, Mrs. W. Cairns, Mrs. K. Cairns and Mrs. H. Whitehead, conversers for the evening, served refreshments. This was the first of the Fall series of card parties.

RECEPTION TONIGHT

A social evening and congregational reception will be held in Belmont Avenue United Church tonight at 8 o'clock to formally welcome the new pastor, Rev. Bryce H. Wallace, and Mrs. Wallace, who have recently assumed charge of the work of the church. Solos and musical items will be included in the programme, and the ladies of the church will serve refreshments. R. P. Knott will be in the chair. All who are interested in the work at Belmont are invited to attend.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE TO BE WARMLY GREETED

Another twenty-one-gun salute will be fired from Work Point at this time. Such an honor is only extended to members of the Royal Family, visiting royalty or the visiting head of a republic.

In cars, the party will leave Belleville Street, make the circuit of the driveways of the Legislative Buildings past the main steps, emerge on Government Street, and cross the Causeway north along Government to Yates Street, through the centre of the city. The City of Victoria is providing a motorcycle police escort.

Turning east on Yates, the procession will proceed to Vancouver Street, south along Vancouver Street to Rockland Avenue, and east on Rockland to Government House.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. An itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning, and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hemorrhoid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the "piles." Hemorrhoid is a specialist's prescription, and is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to state an operation when a simple remedy which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Theft Charge—James Reid, charged in the Provincial Police court yesterday with the theft of a clock valued at over $25, was remanded until Wednesday afternoon next without entering a plea.

Luncheon Canceled—It was announced at yesterday's meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club that next week's luncheon gathering in the Empress Hotel on Thursday would be canceled because of the visit of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to Victoria on that day.

To Select Jurors—Sheriff H. W. Goggin has given notice that on Wednesday, September 29, he will be in attendance at the Court Registrar's office when the matter of selecting the jurors to serve at the next assize sitting in the Capital City will take place. The assizes will open on October 12.

Quake Recorded—The Victoria Observatory seismograph recorded a severe earthquake at 5:18, yesterday morning, which continued for two and one-half hours. The epicentre of the disturbance is estimated by W. A. Thorn, observatory director, to be 6,000 miles west of Victoria, probably in China.

Date Is Announced—The annual superfluity sale by the Victoria Rotary Club in aid of Rotary charities, will be held on Wednesday, November 3, in Plimley's showrooms. It was announced at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club, in the Empress Hotel. Fred Butterfield is chairman of the committee organizing the sale.

Half-Holiday Declared—Wednesday afternoon has been declared a half-holiday by the Saanich Council in order to give employees of Saanich business firms an opportunity to visit the North and South Saanich Agricultural Association Fair. Municipal employers are asked to co-operate in releasing their staffs on that day. The Municipal Hall will close at noon.

Postpones Hearings—An adjournment was taken yesterday in the charges laid against George H. Snow under the Sales on Consignment Act until this morning in order to allow counsel for the accused to be present. J. B. Clearwater, K.C., appeared for the prosecution yesterday, asking for the extension of the adjournment to suit the convenience of outside counsel.

Dog Described—The dog which wandered into the Empress Hotel, Tuesday, is being cared for by members of the staff. Several phone calls of inquiry from owners of missing dogs have been received by Miss Esme Thompson, of the Ask Mr. Foster travel bureau. The pup is declared to be of medium size, black and tan, a short tail and a narrow head.

Died in Peace Area—Louis Philip Cadona, manager of the Rolla Co-operative Stores, succumbed yesterday to natural causes, according to late advices to headquarters of the Provincial Police by wireless from Rolla. The late Mr. Cadona was well known in the Peace River district, where he had resided continuously for twenty years. Born in England, he saw service with Imperial forces in the Great War.

Jane Dixon Says:

A PRESENT-DAY UGLY DUCKLING IS OVERLOOKED BY HER PARENTS BECAUSE HER TWO SISTERS HAVE TALENT IN MUSIC AND HER ONLY GIFT SEEMS TO BE FOR HOUSEWORK

Dear Jane Dixon: Do you believe that just because you have had the bad luck to be the ugly duckling of the family you should get all the bad breaks, such as the hardest and meanest household tasks, the least desirable room, the most expensive clothes, the tag end of most everything that comes up?

I'm one of three sisters in our family, the middle one, and I certainly seem to be the odd number.

Both of my sisters are very good looking, one tall and blonde, the other dark and petite. They are slender and have beautiful figures. I am medium height and kind of dumpy, with hair that is no particular color at all—unless it's a drab brown, and a skin that is muddy rather than olive like my dark sister.

My eldest sister, the blonde one, has a lovely voice, a coloratura soprano, and our parents are economizing in every way they can to send her to the best singing teachers.

The youngest sister has a natural talent for piano, and she, too, is studying with a fine musician.

SISTERS LACK CONSIDERATION

I don't seem to have a single gift unless it is for housework, which comes naturally to me, and which I would like if I did not feel I was being imposed upon.

You can imagine how popular my two sisters are, with their looks and their music—they sing and play beautifully together. They go every place together and seldom, if ever, do they include me. They think nothing of throwing me a dress and ordering "See on that button," or "mend that rip." I even darn their stockings. Even this I would do willingly if they asked me as a favor instead of treating me like a slave.

What can I do, Miss Dixon? I feel trapped. Surely there can be some pleasure in life for an ugly duckling—Odd Number.

Answer: Of course there is pleasure and a place in the sun, too, for the ugly duckling, if she will stop thinking of herself as such and will set to work with faith and a grim determination to emerge from her drab plumage.

COURSE IN CALISTHENICS ADVISED

Ask your parents if they will allow you a share of the money being spent on your sisters. Tell them you are determined to stop being muddy and dumpy, and that if they will help you, they will have three attractive daughters instead of two.

Take up a regular course of calisthenics with a teacher who knows conditioning of the human body. Rhythmic dancing under a first class instructor would do wonders for you. With proper diet prescribed by a physical culturist, and correct exercise, your skin will throw off its muck and take on a glow. Any reliable beauty shop can supply a shampoo rinse that will give a glint to your hair.

Surely your parents will allow you the same opportunity they give to your sisters, so you decide to take up dancing instead of music. Let them laugh. The laugh will be on the other side if you apply yourself with good cheer and firm will. Your spirit will lift, too, as your body and looks improve, and remember, spirit is personality. Don't go in for beauty. Go in for originality, for sparkle. Art and science, plus effort, have turned many an ugly duckling into a bird of bright plumage.

Be too busy to sew on the buttons or mend the rips when your self-centred and thoughtless sisters toss them your way.

thanks to Sir Evelyn and Lady Wrench and Mr. Bridges, complimenting them on their high ideals and the work they had accomplished. Mr. H. P. King seconded the resolution.

Sir Evelyn and Lady Wrench and Mr. Bridges chatted with members of the League and renewed old acquaintances. Mrs. H. J. Jolson Fisher and Miss Bowron presided at the tea table.

LOCAL COMMITTEE

The local committee, which is being assisted in the task of collecting supplies by the Saskatchewan Association and other bodies, includes Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie, Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, Rev. Bryce H. Wallace, Rev. Father A. B. Wood, Rabbi Marcus Berner and Rev. Edwin Bracher.

As in past years, all railway lines are co-operating with the relief move, although only full carloads will be handled. The E. & N. Railway has offered the use of its freight shed on Store Street to the Victoria committee, and all contributions should be delivered to this point ready for shipment not later than October 6.

Cash donations should be sent to G. T. Moir, 3401 Cook Street. At present the appeal is being made specifically for fruit and vegetables, while a drive for clothing will be conducted later.

MISSION STATION HEAVILY BOMBED

South, suffered the severest punishment, with 2,000 dead or wounded in two days of bombing.

Nanking, the capital, escaped after the two raids of Wednesday, but numerous towns within a 200-mile radius felt the wrath of the Japanese bombers.

Whether rainy weather or the protests of Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany against the Nanking bombardments kept the Japanese airmen away from the capital was uncertain. At any rate Nanking went unbombed, although reports that an enemy air armada of fifty-five planes had left the Shanghai region flying west kept the capital in acute tension for several hours.

FORTS ARE ATTACKED

The air fleet apparently spent most of its force against the Kiangyin forts on the Yangtze River about eighty miles east of Nanking, although fragmentary reports indicated several other towns in the Lower Yangtze Valley were bombed.

Foreign observers told of harrowing scenes in Canton, where uncounted corpses littered the streets after a series of bombings which apparently surprised in destructive effect anything either Nanking or Shanghai has felt.

Nearly all victims were civilians, most of them refugees huddled in pitiful camps. Foreign observers said the bombers had not damaged

Y.W.C.A. Group Starts Season With Enthusiasm

Opening Night Attended by Largest Crowd in History of Association—Presentation Made To Miss Willena Graham

Sometimes to romance may be a somewhat novel way of falling in love, at any rate in the unimaginative Western world. But in China, when flowered speeches meet with straw hats and horn-rimmed spectacles, almost anything can happen.

At the official opening night of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday evening, after the welcome of Mrs. Richard Felton, convener of the girls' committee, a large and appreciative audience watched Chinese romance in a delicate comedy of manners, "A Son-in-Law to Love," a one-act play written by Lyon Sharrman and produced by Miss Willena Graham in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium.

SPONTANEOUS ACTING

There was some pleasantly spontaneous acting. Blanche Corlett managed with both dignity and humor the part of Tai Tai, the grandmother, and Isobel Cave as Jade Malden made a demure and piquant little heroine. Nora Williams gave a good performance as Peach Blow, the self-possessed and modern young lady of China, and sound work was put in by the Gate-man (Dolma McKinnon), by Go-Between (Emily Durkin), and the Hairdresser (Helen Peaker). Mary McDonald gave a good interpretation of Tu-Past, the lover in the straw hat, and Lady Slow-Head (Florence Gillis) managed to persuade the audience that even a cross mother-in-law can at any rate look charming.

Special congratulations were given to the costume and setting designers, Miss Muriel Johnson and Miss Gertrude Durkin.

Miss Willena Graham was warmly congratulated both on her own stage-craft and on the pleasing performance of her pupils. At the finish of the play, she was presented with an attache case by Mrs. Felton, who expressed on behalf of all present the greatest regret at Miss Graham's coming departure. "To know Miss Graham is to love her," Mrs. Felton said.

The play was followed by two charming items, "Big Brown Bear" and "Lovely Lady Passing By" given by the Choral Club. Miss Edie conducted and Miss Margaret Pringle was the accompanist. Two clever impersonations, "Behind the Scenes" and "The Actress," were given by Eileen Chaster, a pupil of Miss Edie Cole.

CLUB WORK

The lighter side of the programme proved a delightful introduction to the important business of the evening—the presentation of the clubs and interest groups by Mrs. W. E. Cushing, general secretary, and Miss M. I. Ryan, girls' secretary, with Miss Edna Teagle, president of the Y.W.C.A. Girls' Council, presiding. Mrs. Cushing, whom the Y.W.C.A. is also unfortunately to lose, spoke of four vocational courses, housework, salesmanship, dressmaking and stenography, all offered free by the Y.W.C.A. in co-operation with the Provincial Department of Education.

Miss Ryan introduced the self-governing clubs, Senior Business, Y-Owenca, Junior Business, Versatile, Pirate, Junior Schoolgirl and Senior Clubs and the "Y" Girls' Council composed of representatives from various groups. These clubs have miscellaneous programmes including parties, play-reading, travel-talks, service work, etc. Badminton, basketball and swimming cater to different tastes and the Bike-and-Hide Club arranges trips twice a month on Saturday afternoons.

INTEREST GROUPS

Interest groups, with a registration fee, include a short course of home nursing to be given by Miss A. Creaser, supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses, every Monday at 8 p.m. There is also a course on Thursday at 8 p.m. for those interested in the study of the camera or on Wednesday at 8 p.m. for book, travel and news discussions under Miss Nan Eaton. A group leadership course includes such subjects as "Club Management" and "Community Needs and Resources."

A small fee is charged for evening classes in handicrafts—clay-modelling, weaving, sewing, etc.—for dramatic art classes directed by Miss Edie Cole, and for choral classes directed by Miss Kate Frances Ede, L.A.B., and accompanied by Miss Margaret Pringle, A.T.C.M. At the end of the programme, refreshments, arranged by Mrs. Scarratt, were served by the girls' committee and registrations for the various groups were taken.

Clubs-Societies

Cowichan W.A. St. Andrew's W.A. Cowichan Station, held its first meeting of the Autumn season at the home of Mrs. C. Henniker recently. The president, Mrs. E. Musgrave, outlined the proposed work of the branch until Christmas. The treasurer gave a satisfactory report of the July garden fete and the president thanked all members and friends for their excellent co-operation. A grant of $15 was made to the M.S.C.C., St. Andrew's Church. The president expressed the deep regret of the branch in the passing of Miss Sill, late Diocesan president, and of Mrs. M. Moss, O.B.E., past president of Miss West, for twelve years head of the Sunday school-by-post in Regina, gave an interesting and informative address on her work there. A hearty vote of the vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Hunt, Bible reading closed the meeting, after which tea was served by the hostess.

Whist Party Held

There were fifteen tables of players at the whist drive held last evening by the Victoria Women's Conservative Association in the rooms, Campbell Building. Mrs. S. R. Bowden, the president, was general convener and supper was served by Mrs. A. P. Sinclair and Mrs. J. Lismore. During the intervals for refreshments, Mrs. Bert Noel delighted the guests with a number of vocal solos, playing her own accompaniment.

Spiritualist Church

The First Spiritualist Church is holding a silver tea in the Sons of England Hall this afternoon from 2:30 until 5 o'clock. The readers will be: Rev. W. L. Holder, crystal readings; Mrs. Johnson, cards; Mrs. K. Youson and Mrs. Silsby, trances; and Mrs. Tanson will read palms.

Mission Tour Is Described By Deaconess

An interesting account of her work in connection with the Sunday School by Post, under the direction of the Church of England in Canada, was given last evening at Memorial Hall by Deaconess Robinson.

A series of lantern slides gave the audience an intimate touch to the address, the speaker telling many amusing and personal anecdotes about her experiences and the families she visited. At Youbou and

Popular Town or Campus "Half" Coat

This little wool "half" coat is going to town as well as to campus this Fall. Its casualness makes it so entirely useful. You'll wear it over almost everything from tweed skirts to afternoon frocks. A slim stitched plait is released to give the back of this youthful topcoat a swag flare. The model may also be made in three-quarter length. Corduroy with plaid wool lining and leather buttons—is especially smart for school and college wear. Style No. 3016 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 54-inch yards of 39-inch material.

The Fall and Winter Fashion Book is filled with lovely designs for everyday wear, which are easy and inexpensive to make.

Tag Day Will Be In Aid of Milk Fund of Chapter

A TAG day in aid of its milk fund will be held by the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.D.E., tomorrow, under the convener of Mrs. J. W. Hudson. Those willing to tag are asked to communicate with Mrs. Hudson by telephoning E6010.

Last Winter the chapter supplied 200 half pints of milk daily to undernourished children, and distribution of milk this year will commence as soon as the inspection by the school doctor is completed.

To carry on this work, the support of the public is needed.

Camp Six, Cowichan Lake, she had conducted Summer classes in religious education, and there, as in all the settlements visited, she had received the greatest kindness and the co-operation of the families, the missionaries and all with whom she came into contact.

AT LASQUETI ISLAND

Classes had been conducted at Lasqueti Island, which is now being served by the Columbia Coast Mission, and Rev. T. A. L. Connold had conducted christening services. Tofino, Ucluelet, Port Hardy and Quatsino had all been visited by Deaconess Robinson, who told of the appreciation of the parents and of the children's interest in their classes, and in the literature supplied to them.

There was great need for religious instruction in the majority of the isolated settlements, Deaconess Robinson stated, in order that a tendency towards an atheistic attitude and lower moral standards might be replaced by higher ideals.

Among the slides were a number of pictures of the Indians on the West Coast, many of these having been given to her by Mr. B. W. Leeson, of Quatsino, "one of the real people of the West Coast, and one who has done a tremendous amount for the Indians," she said.

TRIBUTE TO WOMEN

Deaconess Robinson was introduced by Rev. Canon Wickens, chairman of the Board of Religious Education, who paid an eloquent tribute to the work done by such noble groups of women as the Woman's Auxiliary, the Sunday School by Post, and the Sunday School caravan, which has been operating under Miss Eva Hasell's direction. "The church owes a debt of gratitude to the energy, zeal and vision of such women," Canon Wickens said, before introducing Deaconess Robinson.

The deaconess will leave next week for a holiday in England, when she also hopes to show a number of her slides and to tell of her work in connection with the Sunday School by Post.

Marriage in Vancouver Of Interest

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (C)—Two pioneer Vancouver families were united today by the marriage of Sarah Dorothy MacGillivray to Lieut.-Col. Robert Mills Blair, winner of the King's Prize and grand aggregate at Bisley Rifle Range in 1929.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. A. Clark, which was beautifully decorated with zinnias, rose gladioli, and Autumn flowers. Rev. George Pringle, padre of the Seaford Highlanders of Canada, performed the ceremony.

The bride, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacGillivray and a niece of Lady McBride, Victoria, wore a gown of ice blue matelasse fashioned on princess lines and terminating in a slight train.

Two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Clark and Mrs. Hobbs Fernie, the former wearing misty grey lace and the latter beige lace, attended the bride as matrons of honor.

Following a reception, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Blair left on a shooting trip to the upper Interior.

Mrs. S. H. Shanks Passes Away in Hospital Here

The death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital, yesterday, of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shanks, wife of S. H. Shanks, 1335 May Street, aged eighty-five years. She was born in San Francisco, and had been residing in this city for the past seventy years.

She is survived by her husband;

SHOCKED BY SOME OF MY NICEST CUSTOMERS

"As a fitter in an exclusive store, I am shocked almost daily by women's carelessness about girdles. I have seen women who are exquisite in every other way, wear girdles positively gray with grime—offensive both in appearance and in odour."

DAINTY ABOUT EVERYTHING BUT GIRDLES

THE number of otherwise dainty women who wear a girdle a week, two weeks, even a month without Luxing is truly amazing!

Their girdles look gray and grimy. The odour is anything but pleasant and very noticeable!

Don't offend this way! It takes but a few minutes to Lux a girdle. Lux not only frees it from perspiration odour—it also preserves the elasticity that makes girdles fit. Avoid soaps with harmful alkali—and cake-soap rubbing. These weaken elasticity. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux!

Removes odour—protects fit...

Dressmaker Details Make News In Coats and Suits

Left, one-piece frock, black wool jacket, blue fox muff worn by Gail Patrick; right, black wool suit, black felt pillbox hat, double fox scarf, modeled by Terry Walker.

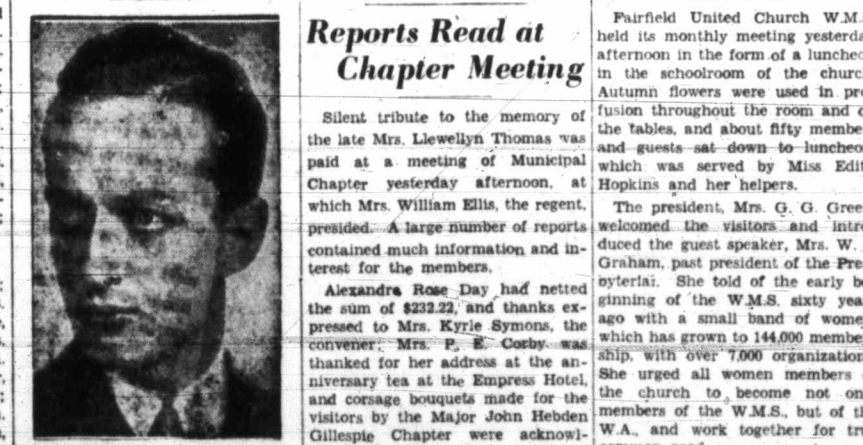

Trimming, or use of separate fur scarfs, is the rule in the more expensive suits and coats.

Illustrating these points are two costumes worn by Hollywood players. At the left is a stunning Travis Banton costume designed for Gail Patrick. The one-piece frock and loose-backed jacket are of black wool. A row of tiny buttons runs straight up the front of the dress, and the fronts of the coat are trimmed with double rows of blue fox. The accessories are a large muff of blue fox and black hat, shoes and gloves.

NAVY OR BLACK ESSENTIAL

At least one suit of navy or black wool should be included in every Fall and Winter wardrobe, is the verdict of fashion experts. Terry Walker, screen featured player, wears a black wool suit with the late Mr. William Hutchison, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, to Mr. William Harold Hawkes, elder son of Mr. S. Hawkes, Victoria, and the late Mr. William Hawkes, Surrey, England. The wedding will take place in the United Church, Duncan, on October 6.

MR. GREGORY CRAWLEY

Having just recently won a scholarship with the Cornish School of Dramatics, Mr. Gregory Crawley has left for Seattle, where he will continue his studies at the school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crawley, of this city, formerly of Saskatchewan, who are at present visiting in Kelowna.

An active member of the Beaux-Arts Society in Victoria, Mr. Crawley is well-known here in amateur theatricals and has taken leading roles in plays given by amateur groups in Saskatchewan, Toronto and Montreal. He took the lead in "Petticoat Fever," which was produced by the Beaux-Arts here last Spring, and more recently took the leading role in "Kind Lady," given at the Drama Summer School under Kinert Wolfe.

Social and Personal

Had Shower

Miss Jessie McQueen, a September bride-to-be, was honored last evening when Mrs. William Logie entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home on Wildwood Avenue. Michaelmas daisies and assorted Autumn blooms were used in decorating the reception rooms. A large basket, prettily decorated with pink, blue and white crepe paper, and containing the lovely gifts, was presented to the bride-to-be while she sat under an umbrella which was cleverly trimmed with pink and white rose petals. Games were much enjoyed during the evening and were followed by a buffet supper, served by the hostess from a table arranged with a lace cloth on which lay bands of yellow, mauve and white crinkled paper. The centerpiece consisted of Michaelmas daisies and other flowers in the three prevailing colors in a mauve bowl, and completing this attractive motif were tall yellow tapers in mauve holders. The guests were: Mrs. M. E. McQueen, Mrs. W. Logie, Sr., Mrs. J. Small, Mrs. A. Tripp, Mrs. W. Barratt, Mrs. B. Cox, Mrs. Smith, Sr., Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. B. Elliott, Mrs. W. Passmore, Mrs. J. B. Hodgins, Mrs. F. M. Eastwood, and Misses Margaret McQueen, Jean Elliott and Helen Elliott.

Hostess at Reception

Mrs. Findlay Stewart McKinnon, formerly Miss Beatrice Rutan, received yesterday afternoon for the first time since her marriage, about sixty friends attending an afternoon party at her home on Wilmet Place. Mrs. McKinnon, wearing her beautiful wedding gown of ivory lace and a corsage bouquet of roses, was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. A. C. Rutan, who wore a gown of powder blue chiffon. The beautifully decorated table, with a centerpiece of pink chrysanthemums and matching candles in silver holders, was presided over during the afternoon by Mrs. W. H. Mearns, Mrs. W. M. Allan, Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Mrs. R. T. Elliott, Mrs. A. E. deL. Nunn, Mrs. C. D. Orchard, Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Mrs. C. Drummond-Hay, Mrs. A. E. Greenwood and Mrs. James Osborne, while assisting in serving were Mrs. B. H. Schwengers, Mrs. Charles A. Watson, Mrs. D. Mowat, Mrs. T. L. Sturges, Mrs. Reginald Hammond, Miss Dore, Drummond-Hay, Miss Constance Hobbs and Miss Ethel Bale.

Party for Bride-to-Be

Miss Florence Malcolm entertained at the home of her parents on Stanley Avenue on Wednesday afternoon for a tea and shower in honor of Miss Clara Jeeves, an October bride-to-be. During the afternoon a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and a large heart-shaped box decorated in pink and white, and containing the many gifts, were presented to Miss Jeeves. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with a bowl of rose asters. Those invited were: Mesdames G. R. V. Bolster, F. Goodwin, R. E. Malcolm, Misses Madge Randall, Jean Jackson, Iris Smith, Thora Harrison, Helen Forsyth, Marjorie Dickson, Kathleen Smith, Lenora Trickett, Betty Forsyth, Rosa Stone and Ethelwynne Malcolm.

At Forbidden Plateau

Brigadier and Mrs. MacDonald, Victoria, accompanied by Mr. Paul Reading, Calgary, are guests of the Forbidden Plateau Lodge. Their plans include a horseback tour of the Forbidden Plateau, and they are planning to spend several nights at the Alpine Camps operated by the lodge. The days will be spent in viewing the scenic wonders of the plateau and fishing for the sporty Kamloops trout, which abound in many of the lakes.

Tea Hostess

Mrs. C. Wallis Wilson was hostess at a tea party at her home, 941 Green Street, on Wednesday afternoon. She was assisted by Mrs. Harold Duncan, who poured tea. The invited guests included Mrs. Harold Duncan, Mrs. B. McNeill, Mrs. G. Sherwood, Mrs. G. Peatt, Mrs. S. Neville, Mrs. A. Davies, Mrs. S. Wright, Mrs. J. McCreadie, Mrs. N. Grant, Mrs. Nelson Hicks and Mrs. A. Ford.

Word From Shanghai

Word has been received here by Mrs. B. Davidson, 3520 Quadra Street, from Rev. F. W. and Mrs. Weaver, who left Victoria some time ago for the Seamen's Mission in Shanghai, that they have left that city and are on their way to the Seamen's Mission in Yokohama. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are both well, but were obliged to leave behind all their belongings except for the clothes they wore.

Golfers Here

Among the golfers who have come over from Vancouver to take part in the British Columbia open championship at the Victoria Golf Club are Messrs. B. Case, R. N. Heiler, Harry Windge, Don Sutherland, Duncan Sutherland, H. A. Stewart, J. C. McKinnon, Fred J. Wood, Dave and Ken Black and Mr. and Mrs. D. McLeod. They are staying at the Oakbay Beach Hotel.

Returning to Work

MANCHESTER, Sept. 23 (CP-Havas).—Nine thousand of the 11,000 machinist apprentices who have been on strike here for nearly two weeks today, agreed to return to work for ten days. If they do not receive a wage increase of three shillings (about 75 cents) a week during that period, they plan to strike again.

Singing in Vancouver

Friends of Miss Doreen Wilson will be interested to hear that she will be the soloist on the Home Gas hour of music broadcasting from Vancouver each Sunday evening. Miss Wilson will also sing with Percy Harvey's "Restless Bows," and Harry Pryce's "Variety Hour" programmes.

Visitor From South

Mrs. Thomas Knight Culley, who has been spending the past seven months in Honolulu, has arrived in Victoria and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ashburnham, Hampshire Road. Mrs. Culley's home is in Santa Barbara, Cal.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Simpson, Oliver Street, have returned home from a four-day holiday spent on the Island, where they stayed at Klitsa Lodge, Sproat Lake, and at Riverside Inn, Cowichan.

Plan "Invitation Day"

The ladies of the Macaulay Point Golf Club will hold an "Invitation Day" on Sunday. Members are asked to make their arrangements. Tea will be served in the afternoon.

Return From Honeymoon

Dr. and Mrs. John Mercer have returned from their honeymoon spent in the United States and are now in their new home on Cook Street. Mrs. Mercer was the former Miss Lorraine Pendray.

Returns to Vancouver

Mrs. H. E. Tremayne returned to Vancouver yesterday afternoon after visiting friends at Gordon Head and William Head, and has been the guest latterly of Miss McMullin, Beach Drive.

Motored to Lake

Mr. and Mrs. D. Digby Robinson, Esquimalt, motored up the Island with Mr. N. A. Yarrow, and have been holidaying for a few days at Klitsa Lodge, Sproat Lake.

Leaves for Home

After a three-week visit here, during which she has been a guest at the Aberdeen, Miss Elizabeth MacNab left last night for Vancouver, en route for her home in Regina.

Back From Vancouver

Miss Orrie Branfoot returned yesterday afternoon to her home here after spending the past week in Vancouver as the guest of Miss Dorothy Givins.

At James Bay Hotel

Mrs. Ada L. Gibby has arrived from Sydney, N.S.W., aboard the Ss. Niagara, and is staying for a few days at the James Bay Hotel.

LEAVES FOR VANCOUVER

Captain Crowell and Queen Mary Left Here Yesterday Morning

Bound for Vancouver, after a short stay in Victoria, during which he exhibited his boat at the Willow Fair and talked to yachtsmen of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and their friends, Captain William Crowell, who navigated the little ketch Queen Mary from Halifax to this port, started on the final leg of his journey yesterday morning.

On Wednesday night he told of his sea travels at a well-attended meeting of amateur sailors, in addition to a number of naval officers from Esquimalt, including Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at the Esquimalt Dockyard, and Commander E. R. Mainguy, R.C.N.

H. A. Wyde, a former commodore of the Nova Scotia Yacht Club, was also present. Commodore F. M. Oert, commodore of the local club, whose guest Captain Crowell was for the evening, thanked the adventurous skipper for the story of his long passage.

Captain Crowell was undecided about his immediate future movements when he left here. He may stay in Vancouver for the winter. He expects to do some work on a book he has in mind, entitled "Roar of the Sea."

Niagara Arrived From Down Under Early Last Night

With 193 travelers in all classes aboard, the Canadian-Australasian S. S. Niagara, Captain A. T. Toten, commander, arrived alongside Rithet Piers at 8 o'clock last night, inbound from Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Hawaii. She continued to Vancouver at midnight. Captain W. Martin, regular skipper of the Niagara, is on holiday. Among the passengers were: Sir F. A. Stockdale, Mr. and Mrs. Ballin, round-trip passengers from Vancouver; Captain and Mrs. Gee, the former being an Imperial Army officer, proceeding to London; H. Lindrum, billiard player; and the Misses Vaughan, N. and E. Oliver, Yelf, Ennis and Blackland, of the Anglo-Scottish hockey team, returning home.

DECREASE IN SALMON PACK

Figures at End of September 250,468 Cases Below 1936 Date

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—British Columbia's total salmon pack to September 18 was 1,165,608 cases, compared with 1,419,076 cases to September 19 last year according to a bulletin issued today by the chief supervisor of fisheries here.

Slightly smaller than the 1,232,365 cases packed in 1935 the pack was greater than it was four years ago. The total pack for this year with comparative 1936 figures in brackets, was:

Sockeye, 318,637 (403,717); springs, 13,955 (21,241); steelheads, 720 (933); bluebacks, 18,130 (32,171); coho, 74,790 (173,594); pinks, 536,925 (583,894); chums, 202,451 (200,555).

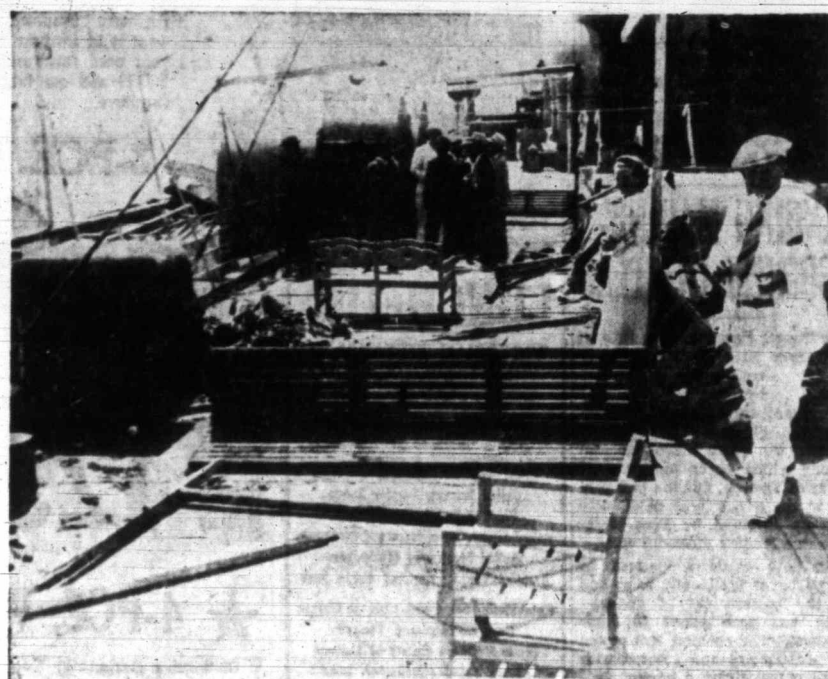

BARGAIN RATES OVER WEEK-END

Island Railway Will Carry Passengers Over Lines At Low Rates

With the promise of lovely autumn weather for the week-end, the bargain fares offered by the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway over its lines for the period starting today and ending on Tuesday next should attract considerable patronage.

This season of the year has charms peculiarly its own, and a visit by train to any Up-Island community or resort will well repay anyone with leisure and the inclination to spend a day or two away from town.

These bargain fares, offered residents of Victoria, are also available to people residing adjacent to the line of railway between Victoria, Port Alberni and Courtenay, with the privilege of journeying to any point in between while the rates are in effect. Tickets good going today or tomorrow are good for returning up to and including Tuesday night.

MAKING GREAT EFFORT TODAY

Local Strength of Teamsters' Union Will Stop Work at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (P).—The American Federation of Labor Teamsters' Union tonight ordered its full local strength, reputedly 4,000 men, to stop work and join waterfront picket lines tomorrow in a supreme effort to force a crisis in their fight for control over C.I.O. organized warehouses.

Teamster Leader John P. McLaughlin said all members of his union would mass on the waterfront between 6:30 and 9 a.m. in the hope of stopping all activity there of "loyal A.F. of L. unions."

The order was issued after a day of limited teamster picketing which apparently had little effect on C.I.O. inclined waterfront unions. C.I.O. longshoremen went through the teamsters lines apparently without objection from the pickets.

McKinley to Sail From Victoria to Orient Tomorrow

On her way to the Philippines by way of Japan and China ports, the American Mail Line S. S. President McKinley, Captain Clyde P. Bryant, U.S.N.R. commander, will be here for two hours tomorrow afternoon.

The liner is due to arrive alongside Rithet Piers at 4 o'clock, and is scheduled to sail for Yokohama at 6. The big ship will embark travelers and take on mails here.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—Commander E. R. Mainguy, director of the Naval Reserves of the Royal Canadian Navy, will arrive here tomorrow from Victoria.

He will visit the Vancouver headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, but there will be no inspection. Commander Mainguy was captain of the H.M.C.S. Vancouver before he was "paid off" last year. He was appointed to Ottawa after leaving his ship, and has since been director of reserves.

An official four-day visit to Vancouver will be made by the H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Fraser tomorrow.

The vessels will arrive at 2:30 p.m. and be officially welcomed by port and civic authorities. Several social functions will be held both ashore and on board during the stay. H.M.C.S. Skeena is commanded by Captain V. G. Brodeur, of the Royal Canadian Navy, and H.M.C.S. Fraser is under command of H. E. Reid, R.C.N.

UNITED STATES NAVAL FLYERS INJURED WHEN THEIR PLANE CRASHED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 23 (P).—Two United States navy flyers were injured today when their plane crashed into an oil tanker.

Lieut. C. C. McCauley, pilot, suffered possible internal injuries and lacerations and contusions about the head and face. L. R. Miller, aviation ordnance second class, sustained a dislocated shoulder and lacerations of the head and face.

Halibut Landing Figures Increase At Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, Sept. 23 (P).—With six days to go before the last boats sail for the halibut ground in Control Area Three, catch landed at Prince Rupert Fish Exchange this season has totaled more than 11,000,000 pounds, 2,000,000 pounds more than in the same period last year.

To September 17, Canadian and American fishermen had sold 11,471,850 pounds, exchange figures showed. Of this total, Canadian boats landed 6,104,350 and American 5,367,500.

SHORTEST SHIPPING SEASON HAS CLOSED

OTTAWA, Sept. 23 (P).—Lack of grain offering for export at Churchill has brought one of the shortest shipping seasons since the opening of navigation through Hudson Strait to a close. Only two freighters visited the Manitoba port on Hudson Bay this year, their combined cargoes clearing out the elevator there. No further shipments are anticipated.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (P).—William M. Jeffers was formally elected president of the Union Pacific Railroad system today.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT By Ely Culbertson World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

(This week's articles follow the fortunes of a certain pair through a match-point duplicate game. The fifth hand of the series is discussed today.)

Generalities are dangerous guides. Take the matter of signaling. The defender who follows suit to his partner's or adversary's lead with a low card generally desires a shift; a high card generally demands a continuation. This is all very well for beginners, but advanced players seek greater precision. The words "high" and low are, after all, purely comparative.

The hand recorded below brought "my pair" a good match-point score, simply because both players were able to make the proper distinction between a four-spot and a deuce.

The bidding—(East-West vulnerable):

"My team" sat East-West on this board. West opened the club king, and East gave the best signal available to him by playing the four. Declarer followed with the five. Despite the fact that West "missed" the deuce, he could not be certain enough of its location to continue clubs at this point. Declarer might well be false-carding with the Q-5-2.

Since West still had control of the diamond suit, he decided to try for a heart trick. Accordingly he led a low heart. Dummy played the ace, and East followed with the deuce. Declarer drew three rounds of trumps, on the second of which East discarded the diamond deuce. Declarer then led to his diamond.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

PROVINCE IN THIRD PLACE

British Columbia Retains Position in Number of Radio Licences Issued

Figures issued by E. J. Haughton, district superintendent of the Radio Division, Department of Transport, showed the number of radio licences gradually climbing towards the total at the end of the last fiscal year.

Ontario is still the leading province in point of numbers, with British Columbia in third place. Licences in effect at the end of August in Ontario were 339,432, as against 421,126 at the end of the year. The total for British Columbia at the close of the same month was 71,647, compared with 91,978 when the Canadian fiscal year closed.

Among the cities, Montreal leads with 125,539, compared with 135,251. Vancouver's total at the end of August was 38,821, as against 47,172. Victorians had paid for 5,923 by the end of last month, compared with 10,746 at the end of the year.

During the same period, 2,987 licences were issued free to blind persons, as against 2,758 during the previous period of twelve months.

CRAZY-QUILT OF GUESSWORK

Scientific Agnostic Blames Errors in Astronomy for Flyers' Deaths

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23 (P).—Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan were "murdered by Dogmatic Science," Tiffany Thayer charged in the first issue of The Fortean Society Magazine today.

"Unless by some miracle they found land and food and fresh water, they were sent to their death by the smug complacency of Authority, of the schoolmen and the physicists and the astronomers," wrote Thayer, secretary of the society, a national group of scientific agnostics, including several prominent writers.

Thayer contended science is ignorant of the true nature and dimensions of the earth and, therefore, is to blame for the tragic failure of the Earhart-Noonan round-the-world flight.

He declared "the latest and most detailed charts of the South Pacific Ocean, prepared by the United States Navy, are a crazy-quilt of guesswork."

"The magnetic compass is erratic in this district, its variation increasing two minutes annually," said Thayer, a novelist and former Hollywood movie writer, now in New York.

"SORT OF FAIRY HELL"
"This area is a sort of fairy hell where anything may happen."

Thayer delivered a caustic answer to claims astronomy makes possible earth measurements of "incredible accuracy."

"All the observations all the astronomers of the world were able to make in more than 1,200 years," he said, "were insufficient to time accurately the eclipse of the sun (June 8) which almost paralleled the path of Earhart's flight."

"Totality lasted ten seconds longer than it should—and an error of ten seconds means an error of a good many miles in the width of an ocean."

ASHES WILL BE GIVEN TO SEA

Funeral Services for Late Capt. Balcom Conducted At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—Attended by a large number of seamen, the funeral of Captain Hughie Dunn Balcom, towboat navigator, who died here Tuesday, was held today.

Among the mourners were representatives of the M. R. Cliff Towing Company, with whom Captain Balcom had been associated for many years, and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild.

The remains will be cremated and the ashes given to the sea off Victoria, at a later ceremony.

Captain Rupert Roberts, Captain Walter Poole, Captain Joseph McInnis, Captain Walter Ballagh, Captain Clifford Simpson and Captain Richard Jones were pallbearers.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE OFFICIALS TO ARRIVE FROM EAST TOMORROW

H. D. Scully, commissioner of customs, and David Sim, commissioner of excise, will arrive in Victoria on Saturday morning, according to advices received here by G. A. Yardley, local collector of Dominion excise.

During their stay in Victoria they will meet with various business interests; and on Saturday evening, the local customs and excise staff will tender the officials a banquet at the Empress Hotel.

HOCKEY TEAM ON WAY HOME

Players From Old Country Returning After Successful Visit to Australia

Expressing themselves as delighted with their trip to the Antipodes, six members of the Anglo-Scottish grass hockey team, en route home, were in Victoria for a short time last night on board the R.M.S. Niagara.

The team, selected by the All-England Women's Hockey Association, had had an exceptionally successful trip, members reported. They had played eighteen games against the pick of Australian teams, and of these had won twelve, lost four and tied two. They were defeated by New South Wales twice, by Victoria once and by Australia once.

Five members of the team had returned by other routes previously, it was said. Those in the party on the Niagara were Miss N. B. Vaughan, Miss E. M. Oliver, Miss M. R. Oliver, Miss F. Yelf, Miss H. Ennis and Miss K. Blackland.

The last time an Anglo-Scottish team made the trip to Australia was in 1930, the visitors stated. The players intend to see something of Canada on the return trip, and will spend two days in Vancouver before entraining for the East.

Men, women, children prefer Lifebuoy

More Canadian and American women—men and children, too—use Lifebuoy for the bath than any other soap. This was revealed when 11 leading magazines questioned 125,000 women... Lifebuoy stops 'B.O.'... And helps keep the complexion of millions clear, fresh, fine-textured. Lifebuoy is by test more than 20% milder than many so-called 'beauty' and 'baby' soaps.

CHAPTER XLII

Two questions moved like an endless belt through her brain: Why had Jerry and Sheila taken it on themselves to take Tod away from the house? Where was Tod now?

They were questions to which she had told Jerry she would know the answers—or else. That had been a bold reckless threat: "I'll give you until 10 o'clock to bring Tod back to this house." She need not have fixed a deadline. But she had; and she had said 10 o'clock. And before 10 o'clock came, she must know what she was going to do.

She had said she would call in the Department of Justice. Now she considered the effects of such a move and knew she had not the courage to do it. Suppose Jerry and Sheila had been teasing, had left Tod to visit some little friend in Charleston? What a perfect idiot she would be in everyone's eyes if she brought a flock of Justice Department agents rushing to the island, only to have Tod walk in and offer some simple, logical explanation of his absence.

Why had they taken Tod to Charleston? Where was Tod now? Why...? Where...?

The thought that she had misinterpreted those covert glances between Jerry and Sheila disturbed Polly more than a little. Now, after two hours, she began to see that sharp verbal conflict in the study as something more than a difference of opinion as to Tod's whereabouts. Actually, hadn't it been a clash of personal antagonisms—her own and Jerry's? He was still angry with her for having told Angus of their visit to the fort. In her own mind had been the aching memory of that scene in the living-room... Jerry bending over a chair, kissing Sheila... Certainly there had been no sympathy between them. They had been fighting then, fighting with words—and out of her anger had come that rash threat...

"I'll give you until 10 o'clock to bring Tod back to this house." Yes, she had been fighting then. And Jerry had struck back: "Unfortunately I'm going up the country in about an hour, to be gone all night. Perhaps you'll tell me what happened when I get back tomorrow. All about the fireworks, that is—if any." A challenge answered with a challenge. He had dared her to make her threat good. No matter where Tod was lost or put in hiding by Jerry and Sheila, Tod would not be back before 10 o'clock—because Jerry would see that he did not come back before that hour.

The long parade ground beside which she walked was wrapped in the deep grey shadow of early dusk and as Polly's eyes turned from their inward searching to gaze upon her surroundings they fixed upon the tall old officer coming out of the post headquarters. He stopped on the narrow veranda and looked down at a much younger officer who was just mounting the steps. The younger officer jerked his hands up in an exact salute and Polly heard his "Good evening, Colonel." Suddenly Polly turned on her heel. She had come much farther than she had realized. Her one aim had been to get away from the disturbing influences of the Fordell home, to get off where she could think with some clarity. But her discordant thinking had produced not one constructive idea. But it had done this: It had made her see, clearly, that she had in unreasonable anger hurled a threat she was not prepared to put into effect—and that Jerry Brell had called her bluff.

The message lay on the table in the living-room. She glanced at it casually, assuming it was for some member of the family. But it was her own name she read through the transparent panel in the envelope. She opened the small envelope and read:

"Neglected to advise this department will arrange for office space at Fort Moultrie if you should desire change. Believe change would be wise, since home environment is not conducive to best efficiency. Can assure you Colonel Kopeless will gladly render you every assistance. Please report on progress with work at least once every two weeks.

"Autmann." The message was of no importance, really. It merely gave her the privilege of working at the fort instead of here, a change she did not, strangely enough, desire. Like the incident of the two officers meeting on the veranda of the post headquarters, the message was but a break in her futile thinking.

She was sitting at the small table in her room, writing, when Sheila knocked and came into the room. Polly turned, quickly.

"Is Tod here? Has Jerry—?" She saw the answer in Sheila's eyes. "Jerry went back to Charleston to look for him," Sheila said, uneasily. "But he was going off—somewhere. He may have taken Tod with him." She came a step nearer: "Polly—you won't do anything—anything you're likely to regret?"

Polly looked at her watch: it was a quarter to ten. She met Sheila's troubled gaze again. "Where is Tod, Sheila?"

Sheila was suddenly backing away toward the door. "I warn you Polly. If you notify the police—or any one, you'll be sorry."

The next moment Polly was staring at the closed door. She continued to stare at it through long despairing minutes, thinking of Jerry Brell... of that night on the beach when he had kissed her—twice—of his gay silly song in the boat, "She's marvelous! She's marvelous!"... of everything he had ever said to her. But that Jerry had not been real. The real Jerry had kissed another girl, was in league with that girl. They were fighting together, those two—against her. And they thought she hadn't the nerve to fight back!

Suddenly an unimportant meeting of two officers and an equally unimportant telegram took on meaning, importance even. Not in themselves but in the thing they suggested. She faced around and folded her arms on the table, staring down at her watch. It was five minutes to ten. Her eyes followed the minute hand in its full but imperceptible crawling toward the zenith of its circle and a faint smile quivered on her tight lips.

Conscience howled at her: "Preposterous! Insane!" But she disregarded that small voice of reason. At exactly 10 o'clock she went down to the living-room phone and asked the post operator to connect her with Colonel Kopeless.

forward and faster, the new strokes making for more grace and appearance, effortless speed, and though they are a development from the old motions, they are in the ultimate novel, distinct from their early predecessors.

The grand-daddy of the ultra-modern free-style stroke is the trudgen, an overhand with a scissor kick somewhat similar to that used in the breast stroke, which, by the way, is also developing fast. The inventor was an Englishman, J. T. Trudgen, after whom it was named.

With the trudgen, swimming time was greatly improved; but it was not long before it was succeeded by the so-called Australian crawl, said to be the design of Tums and Dick Cavill, who evolved it after many experiments upon Solomon Island natives.

The Australian crawl was improved by the Americans and the Japanese, with modifications of the "flutter" body roll, shoulder propulsion, and particularly by perfecting co-ordination, timing, and breathing.

Giants Capture Great Game, 8-7; Lead Increased

Chapman Comes to Rescue of New York in Third And Final Game of Critical Series Against Cubs—Margin Now Three and a Half Games—Yankees Lose, but Capture American Pennant

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP).—Lanky Chapman came to the rescue today to save an 8-7, thriller-packed triumph for the Giants, a victory that crushed out everything but the Chicago Cubs' mathematical chances of overthrowing the onrushing New Yorkers in the National League championship race.

The Cubs, battling with flaming fury in the final game of the vital series, fought the league leaders right down to the last out, forced Manager Bill Terry to call in every member of his starting pitching corps, only to fall a run short of a three-run win on a base hit in the ninth.

The triumph sent the Giants back to their own Polo Grounds with a three and one-half game margin over the Cubs, with thirteen games left to play. The Cubs, moving on to open a three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals, have but seven games remaining.

Melton, hero of a victory which squared the series for the Giants yesterday, was called in today with the bases loaded in the ninth and one man out. Billy Herman had started the final attempt to win with a double off Harry Gumbert, third of the Giant pitchers. Dick Bartell tossed out Frank Demaree, but Gabby Hartnett walked and Ruppel Collins beat out a single to first baseman Johnny McCarthy.

Manager Charley Grimm sent Truck Stainback in to run for Hartnett and Clay Bryant to do the honors for Collins. Terry hailed in Melton, and Grimm sent a right-handed hitter, Carl Reynolds, in to bat for Phil Cavarretta. Reynolds singled a long fly to Lou Chiozza and Herman scored, as 29,414 spectators sat breathlessly on the edges of their seats. Then Melton forced Augie Galan to ground for the final out.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP).—The New York Yankees, murderers' row extraordinary, completed their second straight sweep of the American League pennant race today, and successfully retained their championship laurels.

Although they dropped a 9-5 decision to the St. Louis Browns, they definitely clinched their ninth league crown beyond all mathematical doubt when the second-place Detroit Tigers were eliminated through a defeat at the hands of the Boston Red Sox.

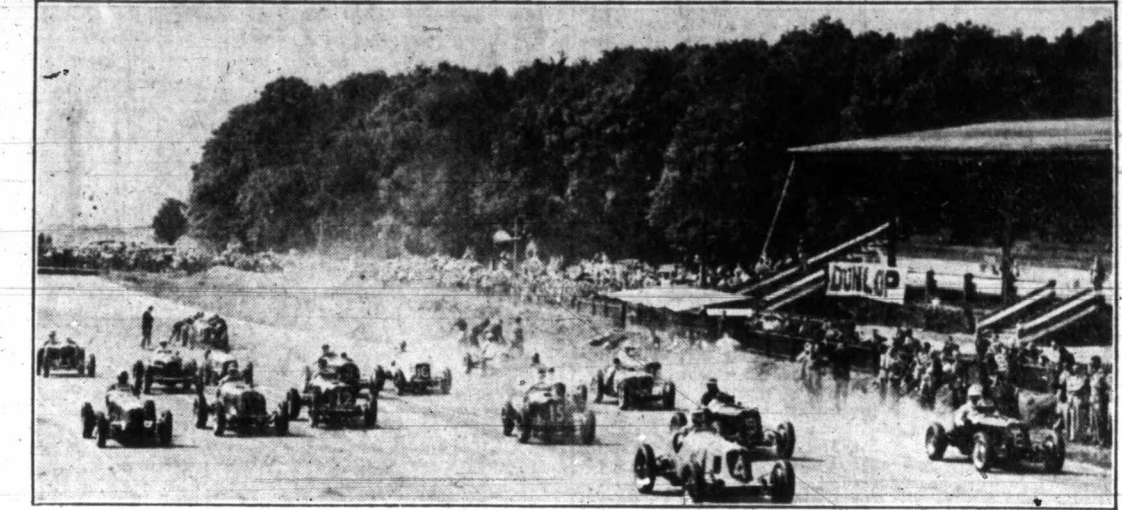

The Yankees' defeat today, coupled with the Tigers' loss, left them twelve games out in front, with only ten to play. The standings of the two leaders after today's hostilities ended were:

ODDS SHORTEN ON DAN BULGER

Favorite for Cambridgeshire Is Now at 9 to 1—Other Quotations Out

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—Odds on Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger were shortened to 9 to 1 tonight as he maintained his place as favorite for the Cambridgeshire.

A callover of odds at the Victoria Club reduced the odds on Dan Bulger, last year's winner of the event, from 11-2, the previous odds.

Other odds:
Esquemeing and Artists Prince, 22-1; Fair Play, Scarlet Princess, Dayton and Lady of Shalott, 25-1; Edgill and Noble King, 33-1; Moody, 35-1; Laureat II, Spot Barred and Red Squaw, 40-1.

For the Cesarewitch, Sir Abe Bailey's Maranta and T. Westhead's Punch were co-favorites at 100-6, followed by Pet and Near Relations, 18-1; Epigram, 25-1; Signature and Foxfield, 28-1; Fearless Fox, Sir Calidore, Hauler and Huxley, 33-1; Night Cap III, 35-1; Weather-vane, 40-1; Castanella, 40-1; Third Hazard, 50-1 and Zeros, 66-1.

George Mutch Goes To Preston Eleven In Big Soccer Deal

Brilliant Inside-Left Transferred to North End Squad for Sum of $27,500—Bolton Faces Wolverhampton in One of Feature Matches—Rangers Have Good Chance to Take Lead

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—Transfer of George Mutch, Manchester United's brilliant Scottish inside left, to Preston North End, is the highlight of mid-week soccer news. One of the cleverest forwards in the game, the twenty-four-year-old player cost Preston $27,500.

Scots are favorites in the Lancashire town, and when Preston meets Birmingham, Saturday, no fewer than nine players from north of the Tweed will be included in the line-up. Manchester United brought Mutch from Arbroath four seasons ago at a fee of $5,000, so the club has done well out of the deal.

Charlton Athletic, leading the English League by a one-point margin, over Arsenal, Stoke City, Bolton Wanderers, Leeds United and Wolverhampton Wanderers, is likely to play against Middlesbrough without Sam Bartram in goal. The big, blond custodian has been suffering from blood poisoning, and club officials are awaiting a medical report on his condition. If he is unfit, Hobbins will replace him between the sticks.

In the Third Division, Southern Section, Notts County jumped to the top of the heap with a 2-0 victory over Bristol City, yesterday. Saturday, the Midlanders have a home game against Crystal Palace, an erratic team this season. Gateshead, surprise packet of the Northern circuit, has a hard job against the powerful Lincoln City squad, even though playing at home. Last year the City won the corresponding match, 5-0, but Gateshead, with a reorganized team, will put very different opposition.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
GLASGOW, Sept. 23 (AP).—Favored with home game against St. Mirren, Saturday, Glasgow Rangers have a golden opportunity to slip into the driver's seat in the Scottish Football League. Only one point separates the light blues from Dundee, spectacular Forfarshire leader, but the latter will be up against a fighting squad at Hamilton in the Academics. Rangers' strength has caused a lot of debate at Ibrox Park. There is unanimity in regard to the defence, the colorful champions being unbeaten this season, and only six goals sent into the net behind Dawson, their international goalkeeper. But of nine games played, five have been, and there are many who think new blood needs to be injected into the attack.

All the other contenders for the leadership have away games. Motherwell goes to Kilmarnock, and should duplicate last season's victory, while Celtic oppose Aberdeen at Pittodrie. Although beaten six times this year, the Dons may spring a surprise on the cup-holding side. Falkirk looks for maximum points against Clyde, but Third Lanark will have a hard job at Arbroath, where the seashore have a habit of downing the best of teams.

HEARTS FAVORED
Hearts are favored to defeat Partick Thistle at Tynecastle Park, and Queen of the South is hoping for its first victory of the season at the expense of Hibernians, who have won only one game. St. Johnstone and Queen's Park drew 2-2 at Hampden Park, last year, and the teams are evenly matched in Saturday's contest.

Morton and Ayr United, promoted from the Second Division, meet on the former's ground at Greenock. While Morton has displayed very poor form in the major league, the United has played first-class soccer, and is now ninth in the table.
In the Second Division, Raith

Black Is Chosen New President of B.C. Golfing Body

DAVE Black, veteran pro at the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Professional Golf Association at the annual meeting held here prior to the opening of their annual tournament, now in progress at the Oak Bay course. Freddy Wood, Vancouver, pro at Hastings Park Club, was named secretary, and the directors for the year are Dunc Sutherland, Vancouver; Harry Winder, Vancouver; and Freddy Burns, Victoria. It was decided that the tournament will be wide open next year, which means that American pros and amateurs will be permitted to play in the competition. This move, officials decided, would be of a great benefit to the tourney and would make it more interesting from every possible angle. Next year the meet will be held on the Mainland.

Rovers, the leaders, play at Stenhousemuir. Airdrieonians and Albion Rovers, tied for second place, one point behind Raith, are likely winners. The former are at home to Dumbarton, while Albion Rovers tackle Brechin City, who have yet to get a point this season.

VANCOUVER PRO HAS ONE-STROKE LEAD AT THE HALF-WAY ROUTE

Shoots Rounds of 70 and 66 to Finish Thirty-Six Holes With 136 at Oak Bay Course—Jimmy Todd, Don Sutherland and Freddy Wood Tied With 137's—Phil Taylor Scores 139

Spraying five birdies and an eagle over the afternoon journey for a brilliant 66 after shooting a one-over-par round of 70 in the forenoon, Stan Leonard, long-hitting pro from the Hastings Park Club, Vancouver, assumed the role of pace-setter at the end of the half-way distance in the British Columbia open golf championship yesterday at the Oak Bay course, by returning a thirty-six-hole total of 136. Right on the heels of the leader came a trio of others, two Mainland pros and the Victoria city champion, Jimmy Todd, with totals of 137. Marching along with the local southpaw ace was Don Sutherland, Vancouver Golf Club, and Freddy Wood, Fraser Golf Club.

Within striking distance and in a good position to come from behind to win top money came Phil Taylor, home club professional, with rounds of 68 and 71 for a thirty-six-hole card of 139. Then came Harry Winder, University Club, with 141, and alone in the next slot was none other than Kenny Black, Vancouver's great little amateur shotmaker, with 142. Ernie Tate, Powell River pro, was seven strokes behind the leader with 143, and then came Russ Case, defending titleholder from Vancouver, and Dave Black, veteran pro from Shaughnessy Heights Club, with 144's.

SETS FAST PACE
Fresh from his victory in the Alberta open championship, Leonard played sound golf all day long and, after trailing the joint leaders in the morning round by two wallops, set a blistering pace in the afternoon to overtake them and go out in front of the pack. This same Leonard, who deserted the amateur ranks only this summer, is also holder of the Pacific Northwest open title, his final triumph as a simon-pure club swinger. Stan started the afternoon round rather disastrously, taking a six on the long first hole. However, he steadied himself and, after paring the next two holes, he fired successive birdies home on the fourth and fifth. He parred the rest of the holes to the turn to be out in 32. After shooting regulation figures on the tenth and eleventh, he caged a twenty-footer on the long uphill twelfth, after getting home with a booming drive and an iron, for an eagle three. He birdied the next, driving the green and sinking his putt for a two, and then canned putts for two more birds on the sixteenth and seventeenth for an incoming score of 34 for his 66, three under.

After shooting a morning eighteen of 72, Don Sutherland set a terrific pace after lunch on the outgoing nine. He started off with an eagle three on the first and followed it up with birdies on the fifth, eighth and ninth for a sensational card of 29, the lowest nine in tournament play since Byron Nelson, famous United States pro, carded the same figures in the $3,000 open at Oak Bay over a year ago. Sutherland had a pair of deuces at the eighth and ninth holes, and was only over par once, and that was at the seventh. On the way to the clubhouse, the Mainlander bumped into trouble here and there and took a 36, which gave him the lowest score of the day, a 65.

WOOD WELL UP
Freddy Wood found the range of the course on his first trip around. He was out in 30 in the morning, caging birdies at the first, fifth, eighth and ninth holes, getting two's on the last two greens. He slipped badly coming in and took 38. In the afternoon he was out in 32, one under, and then came back in 37, Jimmy Todd, who tied with Phil Taylor and Freddy Wood at the end of the morning play, had two very consistent rounds. He fired one under par in the forenoon, a 68, and then shot even par after the rest interval. Jimmy is hitting his shots well, and is in a good spot to come through on a course he knows so well.

Holding down third position is Phil Taylor, the Oak Bay professional. Phil was out in 32 in the morning and then romped over the final stretch in even par, 36. He was all even with par at the half-way mark in the afternoon and took 38 on the way home, which included a six at the 394-yard fiftieth, when he found the trees on his way to the green.

PRYKE HAS TROUBLE
Joe Pryke, Colwood's popular professional, was right up with the leaders after his opening jaunt around the course, when he shot a steady 70. On his second round he was out in 36, and then the trouble began, and it followed him all along the last nine, gaining momentum as he progressed down the fairways. He had three unplayable lies, which cost him strokes, and finally wound up with a miserable 43 for an 83, which put him right out of the running. Then there's the case of Freddy Clunk, Gorge Vale pro. Freddy shot a 74 in the morning and was going nicely after lunch, being two under par at the fifth. Going up the sixth, his troubles all came at once. He drove into a bunker, put his next into the broom bushes and had to chip out. He finished with a terrible eight and then finished the round in 72.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Strangest Case of Filial Gratitude—Thirty years ago a Jewish physician and philanthropist had pity upon an orphan. He adopted the waif, lavished love and affection upon him, gave him an education, and raised him to a position of prominence. The name of the physician was Dr. Herman von Eperstein, resident of Mauterdorf, near Innsbruck, Austria. The adopted son of the Jewish physician is now one of the world's bitterest anti-Semites. He is none other than Herman Goering, Prime Minister of Prussia and the right-hand man of the Nazi Empire. Strangely enough, the relations between adopted father and son have continued cordial even after Goering became Hitler's right-hand man.

UPSETS MARK DAY'S TENNIS IN THE SOUTH

Anita Lizana and Helen Jacobs Eliminated in Southwest Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23 (AP).—Two amazing upsets, with Senorita Lizana, of Chile, and Helen Jacobs, of California, the victims, provided the fireworks for today's play in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships.

Senorita Lizana, newly-crowned United States singles champion, went out in the quarter-finals of women's singles before the crafty play of Mrs. John (Midge) Van Ryn, of Austin, Texas, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1. Miss Jacobs, former American court queen, went down before Miss Gracyn Wheeler, of Santa Monica, tournament defending champion, 6-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Victorious in semi-final matches, America's J. Donald Budge and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, of Germany, will renew their court feud in the championship finals of the men's singles on Saturday.

GERMAN TRIUMPHS
Von Cramm, the world's No. 2 singles player, was hard-pressed to defeat eighteen-year-old Joe Huft, of Los Angeles, national junior singles champion, who carried the German star to five sets before losing, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2.

In the women's singles upper bracket, Alice Marble, of San Francisco, 1936 national singles titlist, eliminated Bonnie Blank, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-3, and will meet Dorothy Bundy, who eliminated Miss Marble in the recent national, and who won today over Helen Germaine, of New York, 6-1, 10-8.

The mixed doubles combination of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of California, and Von Cramm advanced to the semi-finals of that event by routing Joan Ingram, of England, and Owen Anderson, of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2.

Budge had an easy time disposing of his doubles partner, Gene Mako, 6-6, 6-2, 6-0. It was hardly a work-out for the California red head.

HARTNETT NOW BEHIND MIZE

Cubs' Veteran Catcher in Possession of Third Position in Batting Race

By the Associated Press

Gabby Hartnett, of the Cubs, took sole possession of third place in the National League batting race yesterday by the slim margin of a point over Paul Waner, of the Pirates. Although each hit two for four, Hartnett's fewer times at bat boosted him two points to 358, while Waner, who had been deadlocked for third place, gained only one. There were no changes among the American League trio of baseball's Big Six.

GENEVIEW M. TO LOVE SICK NOT THEORIES

By Alan Morrison

When the United States Ryder Cup team returned from England I was at the dock to meet my friends.

Picard, Revolta and Snead. While the customs officers checked over their luggage the boys answered questions put to them by representatives of the various newspapers.

Practically the whole team was in accord on the subject of British galleries. But not one word was said against the players. The point has not been made clear in stories credited to the different members of the U.S. team. A couple of the boys told me that the British expressed regrets over the way the galleries acted towards the American team. That is easy to understand when you know the position the British put holds in the eyes of his club members. It has long been the custom to treat them as "kitchen help" and to have him conduct himself as such when entering the clubhouse.

Under such an arrangement the point is not in a position to tell the golfing public how to behave while following a match. However, the American players did not offer these unpleasant incidents as an alibi for failure to win the British open.

CADDIES' MEET SET TOMORROW

Twenty-Eight Boys Will Seek Honors Saturday at Oak Bay Golf Course

Twenty-eight caddies will tee off in the annual championship tournament at the Victoria Golf Club tomorrow morning, according to the draw and starting times released yesterday by Phil Taylor, club professional. The boys will shoot over eighteen holes for the crown, under full handicap, and the winner will receive possession of the Millbank Cup for a year and also a miniature. Following the tournament the bag-toters will be entertained in the clubhouse, where the prizes will be presented.

Draw, starting times and women's scores follow:

9:00—Bert Hynes, Doug Todd and Mrs. Howell.

9:05—Jack Hughes, D. Dow and Mrs. E. Todd.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

PREVENTING BILIOUSNESS

We are apt, when an attack of biliousness occurs, to blame it on a "sluggish" intestine, or a sluggish, lazy, torpid liver.

As a matter of fact, the liver may be able to do its normal amount of work, but when it is suddenly overloaded with work—too much food—it isn't able to do its work properly, and the regular symptoms of biliousness—lack of appetite, headache, dizziness, nausea or vomiting—occur.

The usual treatment for a bilious attack is to stop eating for one or two days, a dose of Epsom salts, and on the third day to start eating soft, easily-digested foods.

So important is the liver to the whole body that nature has made it the largest organ in the body and the one that not only does the most work, but does more different kinds of work than any other organ.

The liver takes part in digestion, the use of fats and proteins by the tissues, control of the carbohydrate (sugar) content of the blood, the use and throwing away again of uric acid and other substances, taking poisons out of the blood, taking sugar out of the blood and storing it away in its tissues for future use. It manufactures the bile salts which are poured into the intestine in the bile and assists greatly in the digestion of fats (breaks up fats so that they can be absorbed into the blood) and it avoids putrefaction in the intestine by preventing the growth of organisms.

When the flow of bile is scanty or when it is prevented from flowing into the intestine (by inflammation, growth, stones), then follows the clay-colored, foul-smelling stools showing that the fat is not being used properly, and that the organisms in the intestine are being allowed to multiply.

In order that the liver can do its work normally, two things are necessary, (a) proper food and (b) exercise.

Cutting down on fat foods and rich meats, and exercises, such as trying to touch toes with knees straight, or tending from side to side with knees straight, will give the liver its best chance to do its work and thus bilious attacks will be avoided.

TUNED TO LAUGHTER

Musicians, too, have a sense of humor. After a dance tune was played at La Rue's the other night, the band leader turned to one of his union men.

"Pardon me," he said, "just what key were you playing in?" "Skeleton key," answered the musician readily. "It fits anything." And he stifled a yawn.

INSURANCE MEN TO HEAR TALKS

Metropolitan Life Congress Opens at Empress Hotel—Vice-President Here

One hundred and fifty managers, assistant managers and star salesmen of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, from Montana, Oregon and Washington, gathered in the Empress Hotel Wednesday for the second of a series of three sales congresses, which are being held throughout the territory, under the auspices of the company.

The party was led by Henry E. North, San Francisco, vice-president in charge of the Pacific Coast head office. Other head office executives accompanying Mr. North were R. H. Nash, manager of the field education and sales promotion division; Dana D. Beardslee, manager of the publication division, and George Schwenger, George Quinzer and Philip Angell, agency supervisors.

EXECUTIVES TO SPEAK

An informal meeting of the managers was held in the Princess Louise room of the hotel, Wednesday. Yesterday, Mr. North addressed the men on the greater consciousness of life insurance needs. He placed particular emphasis on selling, with regards to the needs and the means of the prospect, rather than obtaining bulk production.

James A. Smithies, superintendent of agencies, also addressed the group.

In the evening, a banquet was held, with a social hour following.

This morning has been left open. The party will leave in the afternoon for Seattle, en route to their homes.

Mr. North is no stranger to this Dominion, and was once vice-president of the Canadian office at Ottawa, as well as organizer of field education and sales promotion.

It is Mr. Smithies' first trip here since he assumed supervision of agencies.
